Danish Premier
Hurt, Recovers

His hands folded complacently, M. Stauning, bearded, bespectacled premier of Denmark, lay in a Copenhagen nursing home recuperating from a broken foot when this picture was taken. The premier spent his days of convalescence studying economics and following press and confidential reports on the trend of world diplomatic affairs.

Lagunans To Seek Flood
Protection

Petitions were circulated yesterday in Laguna Canyon, Canyon Acres, and Fairwood Grove, residential sections outside Laguna Beach city limits which suffered severely from last winter's rains. The petitions, directed at the board of supervisors, the flood control board, and other agencies interested, ask that steps be taken to prevent a recurrence this winter of the flood disaster which swept away homes, destroyed the Laguna canyon highway for several hundred feet, and caused many thousands of dollars' loss. Many families were rendered destitute, aid being given them by the Red Cross. Following the disaster, the sum of $50,000 was set aside by county flood control for a storm drain to carry off flood water, emptying into the ocean at the mouth of Laguna creek.

Surveys Made
Three surveys were made, raising the hopes of the residents of the district affected that work might be completed in time for whatever might happen during the next rainy season.
However, due, it is stated, to delay in securing preference for a PWA grant to supplement the $50,000, nothing was done; and following a slight sprinkle of rain last week, apprehension was voiced that the coming winter might find the affected district in as bad or worse fix than last year.
The petitions now being circulated, are the forerunners of a determined effort to secure action to commence construction of a carry-off drain. During the flood of February, 1937, several houses were overturned and washed from their foundations; bridges across the creek at Canyon Acres road were washed out, and traffic interrupted by destruction of the highway. Water pipes and light and power transmission lines were also cut out of business. None of the affected districts are included in the recent bond issue voted by the county.

Seas Batter Ship
Aground on Rocks

VANCOUVER, B. C., Oct. 2.—(UP)—The Norwegian freighter, Soloy, remained fast on the rocks off Thormanby Island in Georgia strait today as heavy seas delayed the start of salvage work.
Capt. K. Jensen and his officers remained aboard to pump the water that rushed in through a big hole in the No. 2 hold.
The seamen were removed to Pender Harbor by motor launch through rough water.

YES, INDEEDIE! WE DO NOT WANT THE BEER! SO BE GONE!

"No, no, a thousand times no!" was the general manner of expression used by Assistant Chief Harry Fink and Detective Lieutenant Charles W. Wolford in making a blanket refusal to help themselves to six cans of beer, left on their desk this morning.
"We don't like beer, we don't want it!" was the "duet" presented by the officers. "Where'd it come from?"
Use Gestures, Too!
Officers W. E. B. Sherwood and Richard M. Bradley explained with elaborations and gestures that three off-duty boys, each 15 years old, apparently do like beer. About 9:30 p. m. yesterday, while Santa Ana Junior college was teaching the game of football to Santa Monica in the municipal bowl, to the tune of 32 to 0, the boys entered the Al Adrain grocery, and helped themselves to the alcoholic beverage, they indicated. The officers stopped them a few moments afterward, at Fourth and Flower.
Sure, Pour It Out
The boys, not arrested, were taken to their homes and ordered to appear at police headquarters for questioning today. What would happen to the beer if it isn't returned to the purported owner, is unknown, police said.
"Pour it down the sink as far as we're concerned," chorused Fink and Wolford.

Japanese Launch Campaign To Split China

NIPPON GUNS
THREATENS
U.S. MARINES

Developments today in the Chinese-Japanese war:
SHANGHAI—Japanese shrapnel shells explode near U. S. Marine outposts; Chinese claim two mile advance toward civic center.
NANKING—Japan attempting to cut China in two, war correspondent reveals; mass fleet off eastern coast.
TOKYO—Editor of Osaka Mainichi and Tokyo Nichi-Nichi upholds Japan's campaign in China; Leaves for United States to present Japanese viewpoint.

EFFORT IS MADE TO SPLIT CHINA

BY JACK BELDEN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NANKING, Oct. 2.—(UP)—Japanese troops are trying to effect a landing at Haichow, on the Chinese coast, in an effort to form a strong line along the Yellow river and cut China in two.
Japanese armies are advancing with astonishing swiftness down the Peiping-Hankow and Tientsin-Pukow railroads.
Now the plan is to land a third army on the central coast and drive inland to join the Tientsin.

NAME CRAEMER
TO COMMISSIONER

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 2.—(UP)—Gov. Frank F. Merriam today announced appointment of Justus Craemer, Orange newspaper publisher and assistant director of public works, to the post of state building and loan commissioner.
Craemer succeeds Louis Drapau, who automatically vacates the building and loan position on taking over the Ventura county superintendency to which he was appointed by Merriam several days ago.
Craemer, prominent for years in party activities, is chairman of the Republican State Central Committee and is a former president of the California Newspaper Publishers Association.
Merriam said he had not decided upon Craemer's successor in the public works job, which carries a $5000 annual salary. The building and loan post pays $6000 a year.

ROYAL NIPPON PAIR
SET SAIL FOR JAPAN

VICTORIA, B. C., Oct. 2.—(UP)—Constantly under police guard Japan's Prince and Princess Chichibu today prepared to sail for Yokohama tonight on the Hikawa Maru.
The royal couple arrived here yesterday aboard the S. S. Marguerite, and went directly to Vancouver. They were originally to have sailed from Vancouver for the Far East, but a change in schedule necessitated their sailing from here.
High feeling among the Chinese here because of the Sino-Japanese war in the Orient, made necessary the extra precautions in guarding the prince and princess.

Chinese And Japanese In
L. A. Battle

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 2.—(UP)—A Chinese-Japanese battle which raged with all the fury of the war in the Orient was attributed today by schoolboy participants to an "incident" of undisclosed nature.
The fight culminated a long period of bitterness between Japanese and Chinese students of Central junior high school, only a few blocks from city hall.
Japanese and Chinese schoolboys used a path to go from the school to their homes in the Oriental section of the city, only a few blocks from the civic center.

Remark Starts Fight
As the youngsters trooped down the path, one of the boys supposedly made a taunting remark concerning the Far Eastern conflict. Whether the youth was Japanese or Chinese could not be learned. Immediately two of the lads started fighting and within a few seconds more than 200 youths were engaged in the battle.

From the sheriff's office, which overlooks the path, deputies witnessed the battle and rushed down to stop it.
Four youths were treated at Emergency hospital for cuts and bruises.
Two of them were Chinese and the other two Japanese.

2000 EXPECTED
AT SCOUT RALLY

More than 2000 Boy Scouts from the southern section of Region 12, will gather in Orange county next Friday night and Saturday for the two-day camporal to be held in Camp Irvine, according to Harrison White, Orange county Scout executive.
White said today that reservations for camping space have already been made for 190 Scout patrols. This means that 1540 boys are definitely booked for the two-day event. Additional reservations are coming in and will continue until Thursday night, White said.
2000 Scouts Expected
When the camporal opens Saturday morning there will be at least 2000 boys in camp. Scouts from Arizona and other distant points will arrive Friday afternoon and evening and set up their camps at Camp Irvine. The others are due to arrive Saturday morning.
The entire period will be devoted to camp and wood craft tests. Sunday morning the Rev. Albert E. Kelly, pastor of the United Presbyterian church of Santa Ana will conduct church services for the boys under the trees.
The Orange County Council, Boy Scouts will be the host organization and will arrange all details for the camporal.

S. A. MOTORISTS FIND COURTESY

FARMERS ARE URGED TO ACT

In cash as well as good will, says Burgess.

"We drove into Auburn, saw sign after sign in the business area where we wished to stop on business, which designated '5-minute parking.' The local man reported, 'Finally I asked a jewelry store man where I could park. Seeing we were visitors, he directed us to a nearby police officer.'

"Certainly," said the officer, "I'll fix it right up since you're from out-of-state." The Burgess' received a courtesy card which permitted them unlimited parking in any regular parking zone, no matter what time limit, while they were visiting there.

As a sidelight to the trip home, the Burgess' were pleased to find another outstanding method of granting courtesy to motorists, this time in combination with traffic safety.

Highway Signs

On the Coast-to-Coast Highway just east of Columbia, Mo., the family saw just below numerous "curve ahead" warning signs, "curve ahead" signs on the same posts to designate the exact miles-per-hour over which it was not safe to drive around the curves specified.

If the sign below the "curve ahead" sign read "40 M. P. H.," motorists knew that was the top speed for the curve. The Burgess' saw many of these signs in Missouri. The old expression, "I've got to show me, I'm from Missouri," doesn't work in some instances, the local family opines. It seems Missourians are not to be shown some of the finer points of motorizing safety!

NAVY MEN TO STAND TRIAL FOR NEGLIGENCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—(UP)—

The navy prepared today to hold court martial trials of Capt. Howard B. Meclary, and Lieut. Comdr. Edgar R. Winkler, respectively commanding officer and navigator of the light cruiser Omaha, at the Norfolk navy yard next week.

The officers are charged with negligence and neglect of duty in connection with the stranding of the Omaha, flagship of the special service squadron in Caribbean waters off Castle Island lighthouse in the Bahamas, July 19.

Winkler's trial will begin Oct. 4, and Meclary's Oct. 7. Lieut. Solomon S. Isquith will act as judge advocate general.

STATEMENT OF G. C. CLARK, Owner of MAIN MARKET

Regarding the sale of a labor paper in front of the Main Market at Chestnut and Main streets, G. C. Clark, owner and manager of the store, issues this statement:

"In order that the public may be informed of our status, I wish to say that we, as owners and managers of the Main Market, will at all times meet the requirement of the butchers' union as far as hours and wage scale for the men working are concerned.

"But we do feel that we have a perfect right to keep our market open at any time we so desire.

"It is our belief that we are being more than fair to organized labor by the providing of jobs for more Orange county butchers and if the hours per day are to be eight, we see no reason why the union should object if we remained open 24 a day, provided that we conform with the union hours and wage scale.

"We have built our business, for the most part, on our evening and Sunday and holiday trade and we feel that we have a perfect right to continue the policy under which we have been working."

BLACK ADMITS KLAN CHARGES

preme Court testified as a witness and then closed the discussion," Bloom said.

"I looked up in the dictionary the word discussin and it means a two party debate. After hearing Black's speech, I am just as much in a fix as ever. It seems to me that the higher the position the more the holder should come out in the open. We have not heard the last of it."

ROOSEVELT MISSES BLACK ADDRESS

ABOARD PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S SPECIAL TRAIN, En Route to Washington, Oct. 2.—(UP)—President Roosevelt missed the broadcast of Justice Hugo L. Black's speech on his past affiliation with the Ku Klux Klan last night either by design or circumstance, and he was expected to decide today whether to comment on the Supreme Court Justice's explanation.

At the moment that the justice was saying that he had "dropped, discontinued and abandoned" the Klan, Mr. Roosevelt was moving slowly in an open automobile on the four-track highway connecting Olympia and Tacoma, Wash. Soldiers stood at present arms along the roadway and a band was blaring the artillerymen's anthem "The Caissons Go Rolling Along." The president was reviewing the garrison of Fort Lewis, Wash.

Admits Membership

"I did join the Klan," Black said, speaking every word slowly.

"I later resigned. I never rejoined."

He paused an instant, then continued:

"What appeared then, or what appears now on the records of the organization, I do not know.

"I have never considered and I do not now consider the unsolicited card given to me shortly after my nomination to the Senate as a membership of any kind in the Ku Klux Klan. I have never used it. I did not even keep it.

"Before becoming a Senator I dropped the Klan. I have had nothing whatever to do with it since that time. I abandoned it. I have never resumed it and never expect to do so."

Black said he had joined the Klan "about 15 years ago." He resigned after he entered the Senate for the first time, 11 years ago. As proof that he has no sympathy with the Klan prejudices against Catholics, Jews, and Negroes, he cited his record of liberalism in the Senate.

Attacks Exposers

He had started his brief speech with an attack—indirectly put—against persons he deemed responsible for the exposure of his Klan affiliation.

During his European vacation from which he returned Wednesday, Justice Black said there had been "a planned and concerted campaign" which "is calculated to create racial and religious hatred."

If continued, he said, it would cause incalculable harm to national life. He continued:

"To contribute my part in averting such a catastrophe in this land dedicated to tolerance and freedom, I break with precedents of the past to talk with you tonight.

That was the spirit of his speech. It was not an explanation and much less an apology. His apparent desire was to make a statement of fact from a man who was and would remain a Justice of the Supreme Court. At the end, he said:

"When this statement is ended my discussion of the question is closed."

Impeachment Improbable

Constitutional authorities agreed that there was no possibility of successful impeachment proceedings against Black. They said that past affiliation with the Ku Klux Klan was not grounds for impeachment.

Reaction from the Senators who led the fight against President Roosevelt's Supreme Court enlargement program, was varied. Senator Edward R. Burke, D. Neb., who, as a member of the Judiciary committee, raised the question of a Klan affiliation while the Senate was considering Black's appointment, said that it would have been better had he not given any speech at all. There was a time when he should have answered questions (before the appointment was confirmed) but that was long past.

Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney, Dem., Wyoming, another leader in the court bill fight, said in Los Angeles that he considered Black's speech "a frank and satisfactory statement which ought to be and which I think will be accepted by the country."

Pleaded Guilty

At his home in Weston, W. Va., Sen. Rush D. Holt, D. W. Va., said: "What can be said? He pleads guilty."

Rep. Sol Bloom, D. N. Y., predicted that the controversy would continue.

NORTHERN PART OF STATE HIT BY RAIN

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 2.—(UP)—

A storm working down from Washington and Oregon brought general rainfall to the bay area and Northern California today.

The weather bureau predicted, however, the rain clouds would pass over by tonight, with clear skies tomorrow.

California football crowds were given hope of sunshine at games in coastal cities but it was expected the rains would hang on later in interior valleys.

At Redding in the upper Sacramento Valley, 2.38 inches of rain fell in 24 hours, while precipitation was widespread over the entire western area.

Only crops reported damaged were late harvests of grapes.

WALNUT PESTS HIT LOCAL CROP

While the walnut is the preferred host to the huck fly, said Tubbs, there are indications that other fruits may be attacked.

The huck fly was imported, it is believed, in the husks of black walnuts brought from mid-western states, being first found in western San Bernardino county in 1926. Later it spread to Los Angeles and Riverside counties, and by 1930 affected 1500 acres in 25 square miles in the Chino, Ontario and Pomona districts.

Cause "Breakdown"

Its affect on the walnut is to blacken the shell after an internal breakdown, causing "stick-tights" and "kernels." Then the maggots drop to the ground and pupate in the soil emerging next season as flies. Thus the normal treatment for codling moth is "effective, according to Tubbs, who says that experiments thus far show a treatment of cryolite spray first and later dusting with cryolite to be a necessity. This, added to the codling moth treatment, is expensive, and it is hoped that two dustings may be found effective, he stated.

Regulation Difficult

In 1927 the state imposed a regulation against movement from infested areas of walnuts with husks or used picking bags. This was difficult to maintain, and because the fly had spread into native walnuts. This was removed in 1933.

At that time Tubbs issued a memorandum requiring shipments of nuts and sacks held for inspection. If husks, or nuts with husks attached, or sacks containing husks were from known infested areas, or the owners could not prove origin from uninfested areas, they had the option of returning the shipments to point of origin, or removing and destroying all husks, or immersing them and their containers in water at 185 degrees Fahrenheit for not less than three minutes. This memorandum is still in effect.

JAPAN IN MOVE TO SPLIT CHINA

Pukow army and form the Yellow river line. This would give Japan rich Shantung province, a buffer between the northern and Shanghai fronts and if the juncture were effected would cut off all Chinese troops between the Tientsin-Pukow railroad and the sea.

On a visit to the northern front from which I returned today I learned that the Japanese have a big aircraft carrier off Lianyungang, the seaport of Hanchow. Its planes are constantly raiding Hanchow and points to the north—an indication that the Chinese, who have a strong army in the area, are resisting successfully the effort to land troops. It was reported, in the Chinese lines, that 10 warships have arrived off Lianyungang.

Estimates indicate the Chinese have between 400,000 and 500,000 men against 250,000 Japanese in the entire north.

SHRAPNEL HITS NEAR MARINES

SHANGHAI, Oct. 2.—(UP)—Japanese shrapnel shells exploded dangerously near United States Marine outposts on the north border of the International Settlement today.

The Japanese artillery batteries in the hongkew section, the Japanese-controlled eastern part of the settlement, opened a heavy bombardment of the North Railroad Station and Markham Road-Junction areas.

Shrapnel bursting from the shells fired on the Markham Road Junction area endangered the marines on duty along the Soohow Creek lines of the International defense force.

Japanese airplanes continued routine bombing of the Chinese lines this evening, after a lull in the fighting that had been on the fiercest scale all week.

During the day, the Chinese asserted, they had advanced two miles toward the civil center north of the city without meeting Japanese resistance or a trap—which they feared.

Japanese authorities announced that their planes bomber Nanchang, Kiangyin, Pongpu and Hwangshin yesterday, continuing their terror campaign and seeking to disrupt Chinese communications.

JAPANESE EDITOR DEFENDS STAND

BY SHINGORO TAKAISHI

Editor of The Osaka Mainichi (Written for The United Press)

TOKYO, Oct. 2.—(UP)—In presenting the Japanese case in the present Chinese-Japanese conflict it is my earnest hope that the American people will manifest their traditional spirit of fair play.

The United States role in the present instance is to observe events in their true light and to pass judgment after all others have uttered their views—Americans are in the role of judges.

Being a Japanese, I present my country's case. First I must plead for a thorough understanding of the "Spirit of Bushido," or "Way of the Samurai"—Japan's moral life code which corresponds to the western spirit of chivalry.

The confidence, justice and determination with which Japan is undertaking to exterminate China's anti-Japanism may be grasped only by knowing this basic psychological factor.

Bushido upholds valor, but condemns brutality. Humanity is the core of its inculcations. Bushido embraces more than martial honor—it is tantamount to the principles and laws of the nations which guide present civilization. Japanese, whether civilians or soldiers, are proud of Bushido.

been made, according to Judge Ames.

Cranston's retirement from the probation committee ends a long period of service on the body, with which he has been connected since its inception. He served as chairman of the committee for many years, being replaced by Albert Sitton, of Fullerton, several months ago, after reports had been heard of dissension in the committee ranks over several matters, including selection of a proposed county coordinator for juvenile work. Cranston was reported to have been a candidate for this position, with the rest of the committee failing to recommend him.

When the recommendation of Dr. Edward Lee Russell was recently brought before the county supervisors, with a request for salary allocation, Chairman Sitton made reference to dissension within the ranks of the committee, saying it had been divided "six to one" on various questions.

Cranston was superintendent of Santa Ana city schools for many years, retiring several years ago. Other members of the juvenile committee are Chairman Sitton and S. C. Hartruff, of Fullerton; Mrs. R. W. Jones, El Modena; Mrs. R. W. Martin, Anaheim; Mrs. C. C. Cravath, Laguna Beach; T. B. Talbert, Huntington Beach; home, 526 Fairview avenue.

DRIVEN-KILLS YOUTH

VALLEJO, Cal., Oct. 2.—(UP)—

—Rolland Howell, 11-year-old school boy, was killed last night and every vote of the new justice will be suspected. The public will not forget that the man from Alabama once subscribed to the hated principles of the Ku Klux Klan. His public repudiation of his former Klan colleagues comes too late to justify his acceptance now as a member of the supreme court. He goes tagged to his high judicial post. He ought to resign.

Reason Number 3 THE Y. M. C. A.

The Y. M. C. A. believes that the training of our youth in Spirit, Mind and Body is the best means of assuring the community of responsible and respected citizens tomorrow.

While the Y. M. C. A. is not a relief organization, no boy or man in need is ever turned away. During the past year 390 free nights lodgings have been provided and jobs have been found for forty men.

The Dormitory and Men's Athletic Classes are entirely self-supporting — in fact dues and rentals amount to more than half the cost of operating the institution.

Community Chest funds are used to make up the deficit in our Boy's Department. Children do not have the money to pay the full cost of services rendered them and the services and facilities of the "Y" are open to all boys in the community.

THREE STATES TO JOIN IN PICNIC

Former residents of New York, Washington and Oregon will hold their annual picnics next Saturday at Sycamore Grove, according to a joint announcement today by the heads of the three organizations. Former residents of all three states will spend the entire day at the park with basket lunches to be served at noon.

The New York folks will hold their picnic on the left side of the park while Washington and Oregon residents will frolic on the right side of the park. Each state will open county registers and supply coffee and badges to guests.

Presidents of the three groups are: Norbert Savay, New York; Oliver M. Hickey, Washington; and Martin Korstad, Oregon.

GILBERT SEEKS PHONE PERMIT

Increased telephone facilities for Silverado, Trabuco and Modjeska's were in project today following an application placed before the state railroad commission by Clyde Gilbert, of Silverado, who operates an inter-communicating telephone system at Silverado with 40 subscribers.

Gilbert plans to establish lines in Trabuco and Modjeska's with about 10 subscribers each at the start. In becoming a public utility the inter-communicating lines would be connected with outside service. The Silverado system is of the latest type.

Steps toward the designation of the new service as a utility were taken this week at a conference in the offices of Ernest Erwin, secretary of the California Independent. The phone company at Long Beach, with Gilbert and H. R. Cole, assistant telephone engineer of Southern California present.

BUDGE, BARON BOTH CARRIED TO 3 SETS

BERKELEY—Don Budge and Baron Gottfried von Cramm barely squeezed into the semi-finals of Pacific Coast tournament men's singles today.

Jiro Yamagishi, Japanese Davis Cup player, carried Budge three sets, 2-6, 6-4, 10-8 before the red-head finally won. Von Cramm was extended to three sets for the third straight day by Gene Smith of Berkeley, 6-4, 4-6, 6-1.

In semi-final matches Budge meets Frank Kovacs, and von Cramm plays Robert Riggs.

Kay Stammers, English star, was eliminated in women's singles by Silvia Henrotin of France, 6-4, 6-4. Anita Lizana of Chile, American champion, entered the semi-finals by beating Dorothy Workman.

Mary Hardwick, England, won from Maria Luise Horn, Germany, 6-4, 6-2.

CALLING all DOGS

By Albert Payson Terhune

A FREQUENT FALSE ALARM

A novice breeder living near Sunnybank telephoned me in much distress that his five-month litter of collie pups had been fighting and that several of the youngsters had blood on their ruffs and on their mouths and paws. I went over to investigate, though already I knew what had happened. Yes, there were small smears of blood on a few white ruffs and forepaws, and on mouths. But there were no wounds or scratches. I picked up the pups whose lips were blood-flecked. And I found what I expected to find. One or more of their "milk" teeth had become loosened or even dislodged, during the mock battle. The blood was from the gums. I went over the litter and found a

Japan Knocking at China's Door—With Pickax.

Japan's ruthless determination to batter down all Chinese defenses is dramatically illustrated in this striking photograph from a newly-captured Chinese town, showing a Japanese "mopping up" squad at its work of ferreting out snipers. While one soldier breaks down the door of a seemingly-deserted house (which may harbor sharpshooters), his comrades stand by with bayoneted rifles, ready to exterminate any defenders they may find within the building.

BEACH DEMOLAY TO INSTALL OFFICERS

Arl McCormick will be installed formally as Master Counselor of Huntington Beach Chapter, Order of DeMolay, in a ceremony to be held Monday night in Huntington Beach, L. O. O. F. hall.

The installation will be conducted by members of the Orange County Chapter, International DeMolay. At the same time McCormick is seated as Master Counselor, Bill Rose will be installed as Senior Counselor and Jack Munn as Junior Counselor.

Clifford Overacker, retiring Master, will be presented with his past master's jewel by DeMolay Advisor Conrady.

The ceremony will be open to the public.

BICYCLE STOLEN

The circus grounds were scene of a bicycle theft last night, Jack Jackson, 950 West Chestnut, owner of the bicycle told police, who are making a search for it. The bicycle, a Traveler valued at $20, is black with red and white pin stripes.

CARS DAMAGED

Property damage only resulted last evening in front of 412 West Second street, when a car operated by B. W. Preble, 1720 West Ninth, collided with one operated by H. H. Hopkins, 1227 South Garney, as Hopkins drove away from a parking by the curb.

dozen teeth so loose that I could pull them out with no effort at all, and with no pain to the pups. At anywhere from four-and-a-half to seven months, puppies shed their milk teeth. Or such teeth are crowded out by the permanent teeth which are pushing their way upward through the gums. Practically always this shedding of milk teeth can be achieved comfortably by Mother Nature, with no human interference. Let their teeth alone, at such times, unless you are an expert. Nature was on the job, long before you were born.

SHOUTS AND LAUGHTER GREET CLOWNS IN WARDS AT HOSPITAL

Profound cheer pervaded Orange County hospital late yesterday when hundreds of children laughed in glee at antics of clowns from Cole Brothers and Clyde Beatty circus, who were brought to the institution as the result of thoughtfulness on the part of the Santa Ana Rotary club. Even the older patients entered into the gaiety of the occasion, as the funny men flitted from ward to ward.

Milan Miller, member of the club, was the guiding light of the program and through his efforts and the work of Albert Powell, Bobby Bumps, Van Wells, and Otto Griebeling, four clowns from the circus, the shut-ins of the hospital were able for the moment, at least, to forget their sorrow and pain in the comical antics of the clowns.

Starting in the main building, the clowns roamed through the rooms and hallways of the hospital almost at will.

The smiles, ranging from just turned up at the corner of the month smiles to broad-toothed grins, were more than enough reward for the clowns who so willingly gave their time and energy that those unable to attend the regular performance might join in the fun.

Having brightened the day for those in the main building, the four funsters made a dash for the tubercular sanatorium and continued their travesty and put on a 15-minute act in the main ward there.

Climaxing the fun here was Otto Griebeling grabbing the bed of one little girl and taking her for a ride up and down the hall and the shrieks of laughter of the rest of the audience and finally, spinning her bed around, ending up by leaving her stranded in the middle of the hall.

While the idea of the clowns at the hospital may be new to Santa Ana, it is not new to the "boys" of the circus since it came from two past presidents of the Peru, Indiana, Rotary Club who are the promoters of the circus. They are Jesse Murden and Jesse Adkins.

LOYOLA'S RESERVES TROUNCE REDLANDS

LOS ANGELES—Loyola's Lions defeated the Redlands Bulldogs, 27-0, last night in Gilmore stadium.

Nearly 20,000 people saw the light Redlands team hold Loyola's seniors scoreless in the first quarter and then crumble before the flashy attack of a sophomore backfield, rushed in for the second frame.

A 35-yard run by McCowen from an intercepted pass on his own 5-yard line brought spectators to their feet. He scored standing up.

CHURCH PLANS SPECIAL RALLY

A special rally day program will be presented at the United Brethren church, West Third and Shelton street, tomorrow at 9:45 a. m., being combined with the morning service.

The program will include an opening orchestra selection, with following selections; several hymns and a special musical program; lesson study period; secretary's report; birthday offerings; scripture reading; worship service by young men of the Knights of the Twentieth Century class; and a rally day message by the pastor, the Rev. Everett E. Johnson, on "A Rally Day Challenge."

There will be a rally day service in the evening, also, the Rev. Mr. Johnson speaking on "Some Forward Steps We Should Take." An attendance of at least 200 is expected at the morning service, invitation being extended to anyone not attending church elsewhere.

MORNING SERVICE WILL BE RESUMED

Following the summer season during which services were held on Sunday evenings, the Unitarian church tomorrow will resume morning service, according to an announcement today by the Rev. Julia Budlong, pastor.

The morning service will start at 11 a. m. tomorrow with Miss

Ken Murray SAYS:

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 2—Well, I and all my pals have digested that book about winning friends and influencing people and I'd have had more fun reading "Sassy Stories." Because I've got a better system of my own than Dale Carnegie's.

The best way to win friends is to inherit $1,000,000. That's O. K. for a starter. Of course, if you can manage to inherit $10,000,000, you not only win friends but meet up with a lot of strange blondes. Look at Tommy Tommerville. Tommy not only has a cordon of bodyguards, but he maintains his own private street cleaning department just to sweep up the cuties that throw themselves at his feet. And I'll bet Tommy hasn't even got through reading "Anthony Adverse" yet, let alone tackling the how-to-win-friends books.

It is true that in using the inheritance system, those are fair weather friends you win. But in stormy weather, you're expected to lend your friends your only umbrella and rubbers, so what's the diff.

As for influencing people, I know all about that, too. My pop used to be a lobbyist. And I know that to influence people you don't have to inherit $1,000,000, but you need a buxom expense account.

Now is there anything else you readers want to know. Copyright, 1937, McNaught Syn. Inc.

Budding talking of the topic, "Nazis in America." Church school will start at 9:30 a. m. instead of the summer hour of 10 a. m.

CHURCH PLANS TO WELCOME MEMBERS

Special Sunday homecoming services will be held at the Orange avenue Christian church it was announced today by the Rev. A. S. Bash.

An all day church program has been planned according to the Rev. Bash.

Bible school is slated to get underway at 9:30. At 11 o'clock, the Rev. Bash will speak on "The Glory That Excels." At 12 noon a basket dinner on the lawn of the church is planned. At 2:00 o'clock special services and the story and history of the Orange avenue church will be recited. The Reverend Franklin Minck, of Long Beach formerly of the Orange Christian church will be the speaker at the 2 o'clock services.

In the evening a former pastor of the Orange avenue church, John T. Stivers will give the sermon.

FOURTH STREET AND SYCAMORE

For Heavier "Half-Size" Figures—a new "HALF-SIZE" LEGANT

Here's a Corset for the heavier "Half-Size" figure—with "TwoWay-OneWay" control—made of strong "Youthlastic"—the back stretches up and down only—the sides stretch BOTH ways. There's very special boning through the midriff—holds the diaphragm in place—and slims it, too! The entire bust section is of lace with a reinforced pad to uplift the bust firmly to a youthful contour. A tricky new Talon arrangement gives the control of a girdle through the midriff. All told—Le Gant control with comfort throughout that makes you slimmer than ever!

Facts About Sunday's New Programs

Silver Theater
Nearly five hundred couples about to be married in Los Angeles County will be guests of honor to witness the broadcast of "First Love," starring Rosalind Russell and Jimmie Stewart. Oddly enough, the two stars have never been married.

Conrad Nagel will act as the show's producer. "First Love" is a four-part serial from an original story by Grover Jones. Watch for Cliff Arquette in the role of Perry to steal the show.

The expert talents of Felix Mills will arrange the musical settings. The broadcast comes from Hollywood and will be heard weekly in thirty-minute periods. (KNX, 2)

Metropolitan Auditions
Edward Jonson, director of the Metropolitan Opera, will again act as master of ceremonies.

Those invited for a hearing are: Jess Walters, 28-year-old baritone; Virginia Johnson, 26-year-old soprano; and Hardesty Johnson, 38-year-old tenor.

Broadcast comes from New York and fills a thirty-minute weekly period. (KECA, 2)

Sheila Barrett
Graham McNamee, one of the air's better stogees, will mix announcing while acting as a foil for Miss Barrett.

For music there are the Roy Campbell Royalties and Joe Rines' orchestra. Program from New York. Will be heard for a half-hour weekly. (KFI, 3.30)

Joe Penner
The cast is the same as last season with the exception of a singer who will be introduced as Julie Gibson. Her real name is Camille Soray. Production men decided it was "too stagey." She'll sing "It's the Natural Thing to Do."

Jimmy Grier's orchestra with Candy & Coco. Comes from Hollywood. Half-hour weekly. (KNX, 3)

Phil Baker
Heard for the first time in two years on a regular series in the west. KNX is the only west-of-the-Rockies station releasing the program.

Patsy Kelly, stogee, first appeared professionally with Frank Pay in vaudeville.

Al Garry, young tenor at one time on KFWB, gets solo spot.

Oscar Bradley's orchestra. Bottle & Beatie much in evidence as formerly.

From Hollywood. Thirty minutes, weekly. (KNX, 4.30)

Feg Murray
Real newcomer to air, having been heard only once before on Lux Radio Theater. Draws cartoon called "Seen the Stars."

Richard Arlen and Walt Disney guests. Arlen will dramatize how he literally crashed into pictures. Disney will tell the inside story of Mickey Mouse and Donald Duck.

Ozzie Nelson's orchestra lends support with Harriet Hilliard singing "Pent House on Third Avenue." Weekly half-hour airing from Hollywood. (KECA, 4.30)

GM Concert
One of the best liked musical shows on the air last year. Will probably be this year's most elaborate.

Will pick up soloists from two European cities as well as United States.

Erno Rapee, conductor; John B. Kennedy, commentator; Milton Cross, announcer.

Soloists to be heard from New York: Donald Dickson, Maria Jeriza, Joseph Schmidt.

From Hollywood: Helen Jepson and Grace Moore. From Stockholm, Sweden: Jusk Bjorling and Erna Sack.

From Derby, England: Richard Tauber.

All these singers are members of permanent concert company. (KECA, 5)

Tyrone Power
Replaces Ripping Rhythm. Darryl F. Zanuck, chief of 20th Century-Fox, will introduce Powers to listeners.

Play—"Her Cardboard Lover" by P. G. Wodehouse and Jacques Deval. Leading lady—Margaret Sullivan.

Power once worked on Chicago radio station reading Sunday comic strips for kiddies.

Broadcast from Hollywood. Weekly. Half-hour. (KECA, 6)

Jack Benny
Easily the day's headliner. This opens Jack's sixth radio season. Sponsor has just signed for additional 14 weeks, running into middle of 1940. It is most extensive time commitment in NBC's history.

Mary Livingston, Sam "Schleppey" Hearn, Andy Devine, Kenny Baker, Phil Harris and Don Wilson—all eight delightful personalities.

TUSTIN BEATS OILERS, 7 TO 0

Credit 'Big Bill' Cole and his Tustin Tilters for the first big upset of Orange county's high school football season. Tustin yesterday defeated Huntington Beach, 7 to 0, in a non-league contest at Tustin. The Oilers were heavy favorites in view of their decisive win over Garden Grove in last week's scrimmage.

ORANGE WEAKENS IN LAST QUARTER

Orange Panthers battled themselves into submission against Whittier which rallied in the fourth period to score three times and convert each time for a 21-0 victory.

ANAHEIM PASSES TO 12-6 VICTORY

A fourth-quarter rally enabled Anaheim to defeat Garden Grove, 12-6, in a game played at the loser's field. The Argonauts scored in the third period when Hapes intercepted a pass and raced 75 yards.

SAN JOSE RALLIES TO UPSET PACIFIC

Beatty Visions Big Year For Don Five

BY DUNCAN CLARK

Coach Blanchard Beatty, "head" of Santa Ana junior college basketball, was feeling in a talkative mood today when apologetic about the Dons' prospects for a winning hoop season. The influx of some of the school's most promising material in years was the reason.

OUTFIELD REPLACEMENTS WEAK AT THE PLATE

But the loss of Selkirk and Henrich, well, just look at the records. The outfield of Joe DiMaggio, Selkirk, and Henrich has a composite batting average of .348 for the time it has played together this season.

SELKIRK STARTED STRONG THIS YEAR

Nor can he forget the way George started out this season. Until he dove after a dipping line, skidded on his shoulder and ripped a muscle from his moorings, Selkirk looked like he might do more than fill Babe Ruth's right field spot and "No. 3" shirt. It looked as though he might fill the Babe's role of home run leader.

FULLERTON—Bill Goodman's All-Stars furnish the opposition for the Fullerton Firemen here tomorrow when Delbert Jones, husky Placentia athlete, returns to Fullerton's lineup after a successful season of organized baseball.

HARES SCORE IN FIRST AND THIRD PERIODS

Santa Ana high school took its annual football lesson from Long Beach Poly yesterday, but Sammy Saint proved an apt pupil. Turning in a vastly improved performance—defensively at least—over last week's desultory exhibition against Whittier, the Saints held the Southern California champions to a 13 to 2 score and got better the further the thing went. The game was played at Long Beach before a near capacity crowd of 2500, mostly students.

'BETTY CO-ED' TO VIE FOR JAYSEE AWARD

Freshmen co-eds at Santa Ana Junior college soon will be competing with one another to see who is the most popular.

In yesterday's issue of El Don, Jaysee weekly, the paper printed a ballot on which junior college students are given the chance to elect one of their own as a popular person. A freshman girl in a popularity contest. Any freshman woman is eligible, it was announced.

This is the first time that such a contest has ever been held at the college. Several students suggested the idea, and Vic Rowland, editor of El Don, published the ballots.

Call for Nominations
Students of the college will nominate freshman co-eds whom they want in the contest. Nominations must be in by 3 p. m. Tuesday, while the primary election will be held next Friday. Finals will be conducted Friday, October 15.

Results of the election will not be known until the following Friday, Oct. 22, it was revealed. At that time the winner's picture will be published in El Don.

It is the hope of El Don to continue the contest. This contest will probably determine whether or not it will be created as an annual custom, Rowland said.

TUCKER TELLS OF ALLOCATIONS FOR COMMUNITY CHEST

Question No. 2. How are the amounts allocated to the various Community Chest agencies decided upon?

This is the second of a series of questions answered by J. B. Tucker, president of the Community Chest.

Several weeks before the annual campaign each agency in the Community Chest submits a budget statement of expenses which it anticipates for needs to be met during the coming year, together with an estimate of income to be derived from endowments, self-supporting departments or other sources.

The budget committee studies these budget requests along with the past year's record of services and expenses. It goes over the budget item by item, confers with executives or officers of the agency and arrives at a figure which in the opinion of the budget committee and the agency representatives is the minimum amount upon which the service of the agency can be carried on effectively for another year.

The report of the budget committee is studied by the entire board of directors of the Community Chest which makes the final decision as to allocations to the various agencies, makes provision for expenses of the campaign and collection of pledges, and sets the campaign goal.

The budget committee for this year consisted of Fred Merker, chairman; E. M. Sundquist, W. K. Hilliard, T. E. Stephenson and Charles L. Pritchard, with Campaign Chairman D. G. Tidball and the president as ex-officio members.

GOODNESS RITES PLANNED TODAY

Funeral services will be held at 1 p. m. Monday from the Dixon chapel at Costa Mesa for Mrs. Margaret Goodness, 47, Newport Beach, who died last night at the Santa Ana Valley hospital.

Mrs. Goodness, who operated a cafe in Newport Beach, is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Phyllis Morris and a brother P. C. Bergman of Tule Lake, California.

Dr. Mason Holds Unique Press Pass

Dr. John Brown Mason, member of the Santa Ana Junior College faculty, holds one of the most unique press cards ever issued a member of the profession.

The pass, a two-page document, printed in black, gold and red on a white background was issued to Dr. Mason by Reichsfuhrer Adolf Hitler of Germany in September of last year. On one page of the pass is a photograph of Mason and credentials. On the opposite page is the German Swastika and the date of issuance. Enclosed in the same folder and issued at the same time as the press card is a pass entitling Mason to first class transportation on German railroads. Mason said presumably the elaborate style was used to invite favorable comment toward the government.

ATTACK GUILT DENIED BY MAN

Everett J. Hansen yesterday pleaded not guilty to two statutory offenses against Newport Beach girls, aged 12 and 14, trial being set by Superior Judge H. G. Ames for November 9.

Placed on Probation

Harry W. Maddux, charged with non-support of four children, was placed on probation on condition that he contribute $25 per month to support of his family.

Charles Gibson, charged with burglary of a Fullerton ice cream parlor September 10, was ordered to answer the charge October 8.

Neal L. Sargent pleaded not guilty to burglary of the Asher jewelry store in Santa Ana September 22, trial being set for October 20.

Asks Probation

Albert M. Dickerson pleaded guilty to burglary of the Dwight Clapp home in Huntington Beach September 23. Hearing of his plea for probation was set for October 15.

Robert W. Collins was granted a year's probation in connection with the burglary of El Rodeo Riding Club barns.

A sentence of 10 months in the county jail was noted to Charles Courtney for taking a truck from a Buena Park carnival without the owner's consent.

Charged with driving an automobile while his license was suspended, Joe D. Gonzales pleaded not guilty. Trial was set for October 28.

Trial Postponed

Trial of Joe Sanford, Orange automobile dealer charged with six counts of falsifying sales tax reports to the state, was postponed yesterday from October 13 to November 4. Meanwhile, it was explained, negotiations are under way for a settlement out of court.

Johnnie V. Calderon was granted two years probation in connection with driving the car of S. K. Rich without the owner's consent. But Jesus Martinez, his companion in the escapade, was sent to the Preston School of Industry at Lone

COUNTY MUSIC HISTORY TOLD

Orange county's musical history was revived last night for members of the Orange County Historical association who met in the Bowers Memorial museum.

Clarence Gustlin, Santa Ana musician and composer, was the principal speaker and talked on the musical history of the county. Following the talk by Gustlin, Willis J. Rice, violinist, accompanied by his wife, who played the grand piano formerly in the Tustin Rice home, played a group of his own compositions and Schubert's "Serenade." As an encore he played his own arrangement of "Silver Threads Among the Gold."

After the meeting many of the members remained at the museum to inspect some unusual and beautiful exhibits that have been loaned to the society. Included in the exhibits were pieces of glassware, a group of pictures by Frank Cornburn and copies of photographs and sketches of Edward Visscher, loaned by Sheriff Logan Jackson. The program was arranged for the society by Mrs. Dorothy Page Harp-

FINGERPRINTS MAY LEAD TO CULPRIT

Sheriff's officers and Huntington Beach police today were continuing an investigation of the Huntington Beach high school burglary as an attempt was being made to obtain fingerprints. According to Chief H. L. Grant, the thief may have been attending the evening class in the school gymnasium Thursday night shortly before the burglary and may have hidden in the building when class was dismissed.

A $4 Smith and Wesson revolver and approximately $5 cash were taken from the gymnasium which had not been broken into. A window was smashed in entering the main building offices of Principal M. G. Jones and Vice Principal Ray Elliott where 12 cents was taken as the place was ransacked. Deputy Sheriff R. R. Lutes is assisting in the investigation.

BELIEVE FIVE DEAD IN SEWER ACCIDENT

DETROIT, Oct. 2.—(UP)—At least five men were reported killed and 30 others were trapped today when a shield in a new sewer collapsed.

Police of the special investigation squad said that Joseph Flunkelstein, a workman on the sewer project, estimated the deaths. He said the shield in the sewer tunnel collapsed when it struck a wall of sand.

Police patrols and rescue squads were rushed to the scene.

HUGE CHARITY FUND LEFT BY FINANCIER

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 2.—(UP)—A $750,000 charity fund will be established from cash and property left by the late William H. Crocker, San Francisco pioneer banker, it was announced today.

Daniel Murphy, an executor of the Crocker estate, said total assets of Crocker's private estate amounted to $1,000,000. He had given the bulk of his estate to his wife and children over a period of several years before his death last Saturday.

Conscience Or Fear—It Got Results

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Oct. 2.—When Mrs. J. Terry opened the front door of her apartment in the Goodwin courts at 111 Seventh street this morning, she had the surprise of her life.

Reposing on the step was a bundle and in the bundle was the knitted suit which had been stolen from her clothes line last August 29!

Two theories on the return are advanced by police, one is that the thief became conscience stricken; the other is that the thief feared detection and figured it would be the better part of wisdom to return the stolen article.

$7,000 SUIT IS DENIED WHITE

A. Moresey White, former Laguna Beach attorney, now of Los Angeles, was denied his $7,000 suit against Mrs. Lily Chambers Wildg. of Laguna Beach, in a decision just entered by Judge G. K. Scovel. White had sued for loss of books, trunks and other property left in care of Mrs. Chambers' son when White moved from Laguna Beach in 1931.

The son died last year and White later appeared to claim his property, to find that the books were gone, according to testimony in court. White had obtained a $100 loan from Wildg, it was stated, leaving the books with Wildg. It was shown, however, that he had given Wildg a bill of sale for the books.

After he had filed suit against Mrs. Wildg, it was discovered that Wildg had given the books to the Laguna Beach library. They were restored to White.

SEVENTEEN FINED ON SPEEDING CHARGES

Seventeen speeders were fined by Judge J. G. Mitchell in city court yesterday. Those who were fined were:

Virgil S. Payne, Corona, $5; Arthur D. Lewis, Route 3, Santa Ana, $5; Henry Barker, 1905 Oak street, $5; Maxwell H. Lemm, Huntington Beach, $15; Raymond C. Holles, 1907 Victoria Drive, $5; Claude W. Young, Colton, $5; James R. O'Connell, Orange, $5; W. A. Pitts, Fullerton, $10.

Leonard Hunt, Anaheim, $12; Rex O. England, Route 4, Santa Ana, $8; Betty L. Caples, Orange, $6; Richard W. Bancroft, Stanford University, $10; Thomas Coberly, Los Angeles, $5; Elmer H. Haire, San Bernardino, $5; Vivian F. Noble, Garden Grove, $5; and Joe A. Meisel, Jr., Anaheim, $5.

CONCERT WILL BE SUNDAY FEATURE

The Elks Double Quartet, winners of the national contest sponsored as a feature of the Elks convention in Denver, Colo., will be featured at 4 p. m. tomorrow in a concert of sacred and secular music to be presented at the Brown and Wagner Colonial Funeral home. The quartet will sing under the leadership of Miss Ruth Armstrong, director of the organization.

Hugh Rannels, soloist for the double quartet will sing three numbers, "Lift Thine Eyes," "The Rosary" and "Without a Prayer." The double quartet will sing four group numbers, "God Shall Wipe Away All Tears," "Can't You Hear Me Moanin' Lord," "A Spirit Flower" and "Untill." Miss Armstrong will accompany the group on the organ.

BOY, 14, BLAMED FOR BURGLARIES

A 14-year-old Santa Ana boy student, allegedly blamed by police for a series of small burglaries here during past weeks, was caught in the act of burglarizing the home of Mrs. J. Jennings, 901 West Third, yesterday afternoon, by Mrs. Jennings.

The boy, who rang the Jennings doorbell and when no one came to the door, unhooked a rear screen door and entered, was caught by Mrs. Jennings as he entered the dining room. "I was just lookin' for work," he said. He was arrested on a burglary charge by officers and placed in the detention home pending prosecution.

TIMM NAMED MANAGER
Lloyd F. Timm has been named local manager of the Pep Boys store succeeding Gene Kraus who received a promotion to the management of one of the company's stores in Los Angeles.

ORANGE COUNTY'S Hall Of Fame

Harrison E. White, Orange county executive who has brought to Orange county the Regional Camporal, to be held in Camp Irvine next Saturday and Sunday, was instrumental in the Sea Scouts selection of Newport harbor as the location for its annual Rendezvous in November for the third consecutive year.

REALTORS TOLD OF STATE ACT

Discussion of the California Business Opportunity Act was the chief topic of conversation at the weekly meeting of the Santa Ana Realty board at the Rossmore cafe yesterday afternoon.

The discussion of the topic followed short descriptions and explanations of the act by Brice Martin, deputy commissioner to J. Mortimer Clark, state commission and W. C. Wilcox, Los Angeles examiner of applicants for the license.

The act, sponsored by the state Better Business Bureau in an attempt to rid the state of unscrupulous persons who "pad" tales of business opportunities, or stores with "dummies" and sell them as "business opportunities, has little effect in Santa Ana since there is little turnover in business opportunities, officials pointed out.

Earl B. Hawks, president of the board, was in charge of the meeting and introduced the speakers of the day.

ARRANGE FUNERAL OF MRS. STEVENSON

Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. Monday in the Winbiger mortuary chapel for Mrs. Sarah F. Stevenson, 93, who died yesterday at her home, 124 Cypress street. She had lived in Santa Ana for the past 20 years.

Mrs. Stevenson is survived by seven cousins, William S. Llewellyn, Long Beach; Mrs. Jessie L. Cover, Rochester, N. Y.; Mrs. W. A. Fox, Pomona; Mrs. Florence D. Whitney, Naticook, Pa.; Mrs. Louis D. Chapin, Naticook, Pa.; Mrs. A. E. Chapin, Long Beach and a sister-in-law, Mrs. Ella C. Fox, Santa Ana.

DEATH CALLS STATE DEPARTMENT CHIEF

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Oct. 2.—(UP)—J. J. Haley, Jr., administrative officer in the state division of water resources, died early today of a heart attack.

Haley, member of the department for 16 years, was well known throughout the state for his work on conservation projects. He assisted in preliminary surveys for Central Valley and several years ago was associated with the flood control work on the Colorado river.

Haley served the city of Sacramento as purchasing agent prior to joining the state service.

WOMEN NEEDED IN WALNUT INDUSTRY

Charles Fallert, manager of the National Reemployment Service, said today that his office has calls for 100 women workers who have had experience in cracking and sorting walnuts.

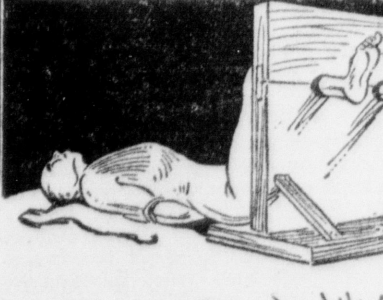

Anyone interested in further particulars are urged to contact the employment service offices in the Santa Ana post office building.

Party Arranged By Radio Group

The annual ladies' day meeting of the Radio Technicians' Association of Orange county will be held at the Green Cat cafe Monday at 7:30 p. m. it was announced today by George Kohlenberger, president of the organization.

Cards and games will be enjoyed and a 100 per cent turnout is expected by the association officials.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

WHILE FISHING IN DELAWARE BAY, ARTHUR FICHER, CAMDEN, NEW JERSEY, HOOKED A LARGE SEAGULL WHICH TOOK OUT 100 YARDS OF LINE BEFORE IT COULD BE REELED IN, AND RELEASED.

"SEVENTEEN-YEAR LOCUSTS," IN THE SOUTHERN UNITED STATES, EMERGE EVERY THIRTEEN YEARS, INSTEAD OF SEVENTEEN.

THE 17-year locusts, more correctly known as Cicadas, since they are neither locusts, nor strictly 17-year insects, are so regular in their periodical appearances that they are known under specific brood numbers. Entomologists know just when and where each brood will make its next appearance.

181 ON JAYSEE LIST WILL BE GRADS OF 1938

Registrar Mabel G. Whiting of Santa Ana Junior college today released a tentative list of 181 sophomores who will graduate in either February or June.

Most of the students have majored in the Letters and Science curriculum, while the second largest group includes commerce students, she said. The tentative list includes:

ASK DIVORCES

Two divorce suits were filed in superior court yesterday, one by Stella Poteet against George Poteet, charging desertion, and the other by Letha L. Hayhurst against Clark Hayhurst, charging nonsupport.

Police News

Convicted in Fullerton on petty theft count, Vincent Morales, 25, 104 North Artesia, Santa Ana, yesterday afternoon began serving a 25-day county jail term.

On a warrant issued from justice court in Santa Barbara county, Deputy Sheriff James Musick today arrested Everett Glass, 28, 100 West Center street, Anaheim, on a charge he failed to support his minor child. He will be returned to the north for prosecution.

Jose Campa, 35, Jalisco, Mexico, jailed here last night by federal immigration officers and charged with entering the United States illegally.

CITRUS LABOR UNION HEARING CONTINUED

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 2.—(UP)—A hearing into charges of the Citrus Packing Workers' Union that the North Whittier Heights Citrus Association violated the Wagner Labor act was continued until Oct. 29 by the National Labor Relations Board today.

The continuance was ordered by Trial Examiner Charles F. Lowy who was called to Chicago to hear another case.

Testimony in the case was virtually completed, attorneys for the association and the union declared. They expected to take only a day or two to complete submission of evidence upon Lowy's return.

YOUNG MAN HELD IN JUNK THEFTS

William Erberfeld, 21, Lomita dairy worker, who admitted he had a big job when he assertedly committed numerous small thefts recently, was caught in the act of stripping a 25-ton crane on the spur track of the Dr. W. J. Ross dog food manufacturing plant, Los Alamitos, yesterday afternoon, officers said.

Today he was booked at county jail on a petty theft charge. When J. L. Balyez, truck driver, went to the location at request of his employer, the Eureka Iron and Metal company of Los Angeles, he discovered Erberfeld and arrested him for local sheriff's officers.

"I was going to sell the stuff as junk in Long Beach," Erberfeld assertedly confessed. Long Beach police said he sold 950 pounds of cast iron and 105 pounds of old brass September 22, and 620 pounds of cast iron, 19 pounds of brass on September 23. He assertedly confessed serving a 60-day jail term in San Jose two years ago after petty theft conviction. He will be arraigned in Seat Beach court soon.

MOTION DENIED

Superior Judge C. C. Haynes, of San Diego, presiding in court here yesterday, denied a motion by Mrs. Inez McMinn for a new trial of her damage suit against Jimmy Harrison, 11, whose bicycle struck her while she was walking along a sidewalk, in Balboa last summer. Her suit was denied when it came to trial recently.

Oak Ridge Preparatory, which turned out the Ferrell brothers, Tom Zachary, and Ray Hayworth, has started baseball practice for next season already.

ATTRACTIONS IN LOCAL THEATRES

Musical Laugh-Fest Tops Walkers Bill

Rhythm, sweet, trembly, low-down; flashy song hits by Gordon and Revel; scintillating girls; a parade of personality headed by Alice Faye, the Ritz brothers, Don Ameche—everything is included for a smash hit in "You Can't Have Everything." Twentieth Century-Fox's sing-song musical, opening on the screen at Walker's tomorrow.

"Flight from Glory," gripping drama of an aerial legion of lost men, with Chester Morris and Whitney Bourne in leading roles, opens as second feature.

Gypsy Rose Lee (Louise Hovick), Charles Winninger, Rubino and violin, Tony Martin, Arthur Treacher and a score of other entertainers are additions to the cast of "You Can't Have Everything." Ru-binoff's facile violin starts the story off on a mad, musical career by introducing Alice Faye, a hopeful young playwright penniless in New York, to Don Ameche, successful author of bright and fragile musical comedies. When Ameche buys secretly, a flop play written by Miss Faye, to further his romantic hopes concerning her, the action begins in earnest. But love prevails over anger.

"Flight from Glory" concerns the harrowing experiences of a group of renegade aviators engaged in flying condemned planes over lofty peaks of the treacherous Andes, and their reactions to the appearance of a beautiful girl in their midst which includes bitter rivalry. World news is offered as an added feature.

Don Ameche and Alice Faye, above, a couple of the "love birds" of the smashing musical comedy hit, opening at Walker's beginning tomorrow. Gypsy Rose Lee, the Ritz brothers and scores more are in supporting roles. Second feature is "Flight From Glory" with Chester Morris, the story dealing with treacherous aviation activities over the Andes mountains.

JIMMIE FIDLER IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 2. — Idol Chatter Might be a good idea for American colleges to establish courses in glamour—it pays better dividends than most professions. Spencer Tracy says he is not superstitious—but he has a fit if anyone whistles in his dressing room. Cited for the Croix de Merite: Olivia de Havilland—completely disregarding stellar practice, she is always on the dot for her appointments. Herbert Mundin's great ambition is to play "Pickwick" on the screen—and why not?

The blank cartridge in today's publicity broadside: "June Lang and Louise Hovick, working in the hot sun yesterday, ate ice-cream and went home with severe stomach aches."—Ho hum! Not satisfied with singing operas, Grace Moore is composing one. No love lost: Sonja Henie and Loretta Young, whose dislike is Powell's studio casting offices and finally persuaded the casting director of Paramount to give the down-and-out a five day bit at $15 a day. This morning the supplicant telephoned again. "Just what the hell do you think I am—an extra?" he demanded furiously. "I can't work for $15 a day—I have more self-respect than that!" Dick gloomily told me that he is through trying to do favors for people—but I happen to know the Arlen sympathy too well to believe him.

After all these months, I have discovered the secret of those amazing make-ups worn by Paul Muni and Louise Rainer in "The Good Earth." Make-ups so perfect that one day on location, I talked for ten minutes with Paul without recognizing him. They were "mask-mobies"—an invention of Jack Dawson, one of Hollywood's experts. He makes a plaster cast of the player's face and on that cast fits and shapes a plastic mask. Once the compound has "set," it can be put on and discarded as easily as a glove and it is so light and flexible that the rippling of the actor's facial muscles shows through. Maskmobies are being created now for every actor whose role demands a radical change in facial appearance and you can expect new authenticity in Hollywood's historical dramas.

Ran across an amusing kid story today at Twentieth Century-Fox. The other day Shirley Temple's stand-in, Mary Lou Isibie, was ill and a substitute had to be found. Being behind schedule, the director impressed the first youngster who came along. A blonde Shirley Temple wig, a dress like the little star's and presto—the requirements were filled. But the youngster was insulted and furious. You see his name is Joe—Joe O'Brien—and he resents being "dressed up like a sissy girl."

In the Warner Brothers cafe yesterday, I saw something that left me considerably impressed. Olivia de Havilland and Beverly Roberts were lunching together, chatting like a couple of magpies. An elderly character actress, virtually unknown now, but once a famous star, came in and stopped at their table to speak to Beverly. And both girls stood up—and refused to be seated again until that 70-odd year old ex-star had taken a chair. Such consideration is a rare commodity in Hollywood.

I have told you about those ingenious racketeers who make their living by guiding tourists to the homes of the stars. And if I gave you the impression that such

And the fact is that he skipped with $50,000 which his father stole. "That may be a fact to you," Cilly said firmly. "We'll grant that this Allan Kerr did just that. But you haven't proved that Jim Kerrigan is Allan Kerr—not by any means."

"I may be wrong, Miss Pierce. But I don't think so. It all fits together too perfectly. Kerrigan knew Amy Kerr, or he wouldn't have asked her to meet him alone on the roof. You can understand that. If it were just a case of his meeting her for the first time and being attracted to her, there were a dozen ways he could have arranged to meet her again. It wasn't that. They knew each other. They were pretty close to each other."

"Amy's parents, by the way, died some years ago. Aunt Harriet raised her. When the old lady died, Amy went west to live with her uncle and this young cousin. I guess Kerr—or Kerrigan—was mighty glad to see her. She was his only link with Bluefields, and he wanted to hear what had happened since his departure. It was a natural gesture for him to suggest a meeting up on the roof where they could talk privately. What happened later may have been the madness of a moment. The young man, according to reports, has a pretty violent temper. He flew into rages at his father's trial—had to be removed bodily from the courtroom on more than one occasion."

"I'm convinced Kerrigan is young Kerr. Even the similarity in names is striking. He registered at his hotel as James A. Kerrigan. That's an easy change from James A. Kerr, isn't it?"

"A mere coincidence," Cilly said doggedly. "It doesn't prove that they are the same."

Dolan reached for the telephone. "Give me Higgins," he ordered. Then: "Say, Higgins, have you got those photographs yet—those Kerr pictures they were rushing from Utah? O. K. Send me down a proof, will you?"

Ten minutes later, he was handing them over the desk to Cilly. "Here are the pictures of James Allan Kerr and his son," he said. "Is this your Jim Kerrigan?"

Cilly held out a trembling hand for them. She stared at the picture of the younger man, and as she did so, her heart contracted. The picture in her hand was a perfect likeness of Jim Kerrigan! And the older man, his father, was the one whose photo Amy had carried in her pocket!

'Lost Horizon' Grand Offering At Broadway

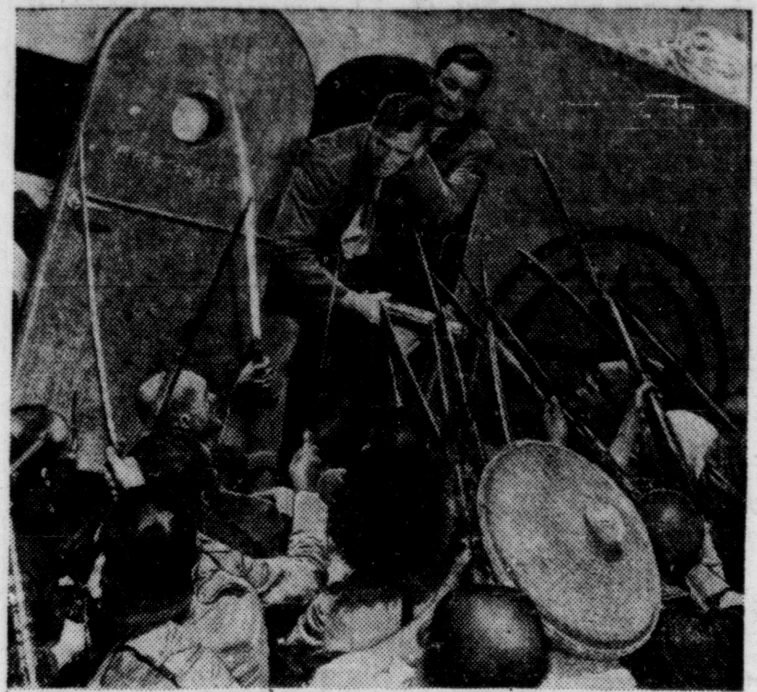

The paeans of praise that greeted Frank Capra's monumental production of "Lost Horizon" on its triumphant roadshow tour, just concluded, sounded in Santa Ana today as the Broadway theater management prepared to screen the picture beginning tomorrow.

"The Man in Blue," featuring Edward Ellis, Robert Wilcox, Nan Grey (of "Three Smart Girls" fame) and Ralph Morgan, has as its central characters, a police officer and a boy whom the officer adopts after killing the lad's burglar father in a gun fight. Starring Ronald Colman, featuring Edward Everett Horton, H. B. Warner, Jane Wyatt, Margo, John Howard and Sam Jaffe—as the High Lama—the picture is an adaptation of James Hilton's celebrated novel of the same name.

The story concerns five persons who are kidnaped in an airplane in China and flown into the forbidden Tibet. Cloistered securely by almost impenetrable mountains, the kidnaped are faced with a setting of indescribable beauty—romance and adventure.

Drama of "The Man in Blue" develops when the youth having grown to manhood, makes a mistake in the bank where he works, the action begins in earnest as even his foster father suspects him of embezzlement. A musical and world news are added.

John Howard and Ronald Colman, kidnap victims of one of the strangest odysseys ever conceived, find escape blocked by native bayonets in the scene above from "Lost Horizon," screening tomorrow at the Broadway. Adapted from prize-winning James Hilton novel. Edward Ellis features second picture, "The Man in Blue."

'VOGUES OF 1938' BRING FUN AND BEAUTY TO WEST COAST

There's something new in screen musicals under the cinema sun, after all and it's no less than Walter Wanger's "Vogues of 1938," the technicolor musical screening now at the West Coast.

Warner Baxter and Joan Bennett head the dazzling cast of screen, stage and night club stars in this gay, romantic tale of Manhattan, which offers us a glimpse of next year's fashions in fun, girls, gowns, music, dances and love, from the authors who wrote "Boy Meets Girl."

The film, which introduces the gorgeous Walter Wanger models, garnered in the producer's search for the "most photographed girls in the world," casts Baxter as head of the House of Curson, New York's most fashionable dress-making establishment, while Miss Bennett is seen as the lovely debutante who jilts a millionaire (Alan Mowbray) on her wedding day to become a mannequin. In day to become a mannequin. In Cowan, Micha Auer, Virginia Verrell and many more entertainers deluxe.

Second feature brings radio's singing cowboy, Smith Baller in Harold Bell Wright's newest action adventure, "Western Gold." Baller's job, aside from singing and making love, is to bring the gold through from California to the east in the face of bandit's gunfire. Heather Angel is in the supporting cast. Color cartoon and world news are added attractions.

Closing Tonight

Marlene Dietrich and Robert Donat in "Knight Without Armor," and Madeline Carroll and Francis Lederer in "It's All Yours," screen for the last time tonight at Walker's. Several shorts are on the same program. "Knight Without Armor" is a beautiful love story which casts Miss Dietrich as an alluring Russian countess, Donat as a man of mystery from another world, with whom Miss Dietrich falls in love and with whom she has many adventures in bliss and horror.

Second feature relates of a dizzy playboy and a glamorous blonde with $4,000,000 who get into a peck of trouble of romantic situations together. Mische Auer and Elliott Nugent add plenty of comedy to this hilarious work of Columbia production.

An outdoor drama that captures all the thrilling action and picturesque life of the Far West during the most colorful period of its history, Harold Bell Wright's "The Californian" closes with final showings at the State tonight. Ricardo Cortez in the starring role, has Katherine DeMille, Nigel de Bruiler and Morgan Wallace, among his well-selected supporting cast. Cortez portrays the role of a prominent rancher, turned outlaw to avenge the attacks of invading sound-reels upon his people's property. A Charlie Chase comedy, cartoon, "Jungle Jim," Chapter 10 and news-reel are added attractions.

Penetrating the forbidden fastnesses of the Isle of the Incredible on a venture so perilous that government authorities authorities at first refused permission, Martin and Osa Johnson encountered the greatest adventure of them all, filming the pictorial climax of Martin's career in "Borneo," which shows for the last time tonight on the Broadway screen. Sight never before seen, pass in swift and fascinating succession on the screen, where tall stories come true right before one's eyes. Together, the Johnsons dared this island of primitive ferocity, legendary with the terror of wild men, inconceivable marvels. Lowell Thomas is commentator with Lew Lehr supplying the comedy relief.

Second feature brings Jack Haley, Ann Sothern, Mary Boland, Edward Everett Horton and many more comedy makers in a farce that is a laugh feast from start to finish. It concerns efforts of a young lawyer, with cards stacked against him, to put over a business deal in face of a "nutty" family and to win the girl of his choice, at the same time. "Equestrian Acrobatics" and other shorts are added.

SWASHBUCKLER TALE SCREENS

Right on the heels of his sensational hit, "A Star is Born," David O. Selznick has ushered in another magnificent piece of entertainment, "The Prisoner of Zenda," swash-buckling tale of love, intrigue and adventure in the courts of Europe, with Ronald Colman, Madeline Carroll and Douglas Fairbanks Jr., in featured roles.

The picture screen next Saturday at the Broadway. As second feature, an interesting and unusual story is told in the new picture, "The Women Men Marry." Produced by Michael Fessier, former Pacific coast star reporter, the film is said to be as direct and unexaggerated as a straight news story, and as revealing. The story presents a reporter assigned to track down a cult of fake mystics. George Murphy, as reporter; Josephine Hutchinson, as girl reporter; Cliff Edwards, cameraman, Claire Dodd, Toby Wing, Sidney Blackmer, Helen Jerome Eddy and others are featured. A golfing cartoon and news are added.

OUT OF THE NIGHT

BY MARION WHITE

Copyright, 1937, NEA Service, Inc.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
PRISCILLA PIERCE—heroine, young woman attorney.
AMY KERR—Cilly's roommate and murderer's victim.
"JIM KERRIGAN"—Cilly's fiancé.
HARRY HUTCHINS—Amy's strange visitor.
SERGEANT DOLAN—officer assigned to solve the murder of Amy Kerr.

Yesterday, Sergeant Dolan sniggered Cilly when he revealed that out in Bluefields, Utah, Jim's father is serving 10 years in prison for theft.

CHAPTER XVI

CILLY grasped the arms of her chair; she leaned forward, her eyes dilated with horror.

"What did you say, sergeant?"

"You heard me, Miss Pierce. I said that Kerrigan's father—and incidentally his name isn't Kerrigan—is serving a 10-year sentence out in Bluefields, Utah, for the theft of $50,000 worth of bank securities."

Cilly sat up tall in her chair; she squared her shoulders. She did believe in Jim, no matter what! If this were true about his father, it was no fault of Jim's. She believed in him! She held her chin a little higher as she looked into Sergeant Dolan's eyes.

"What if this is true?" she demanded. "What if Jim Kerrigan's father is in jail? He did not want to tell me because I would be unhappy about it, naturally. But what has it to do with the murder of Amy Kerr?"

"Plenty, Miss Pierce, plenty. It provides the motive for the killing."

"How?"

"Amy Kerr knew all about the old man. Kerrigan didn't want her to tell you. He slipped her that note, asking her to meet him on the roof. Perhaps he tried to make her promise to keep her mouth shut. But she was fond of you; she didn't want to see you tied to the wrong sort of man. So she refused. And then—well, you know the rest."

"No, I don't, Sergeant Dolan."

Cilly's dark eyes flashed. "I don't know the rest. I don't know how Jim got down from the roof after Amy was killed. Suppose you tell me that. But don't tell me now that you think I hid him in my apartment until after you left."

"No, Miss Pierce," he said, "I won't tell you that. Frankly, I don't believe you did. But somebody did. Let's suppose it was the person who threw away those Bluefields newspapers."

Cilly thought of that, and felt just a little ill. Instead of helping Jim, she had aided Dolan in building a tighter case.

"If we find out," Dolan went on,

"that this Wheeler woman has really skipped, it might be well to look into her past. She might be the connecting link. Meanwhile, let's get back to this Kerrigan-Kerr case. It's not a pretty picture."

Cilly listened apathetically.

"As I told you, Kerrigan's not the gentleman's right name. His name is also Kerr; he and Amy Kerr were first cousins."

"Cousins?" Cilly interrupted in surprise. Jim and Amy cousins? Then that explained the recognition in Amy's eyes when Cilly introduced Jim to her. That explained Jim's note to her. He had surmised all along that the Amy Kerr who lived with Cilly might be his own cousin. And Amy, dear loyal soul, knowing the secret of his father, pretended not to know him.

"Their fathers," Dolan went on, "were natives of Interlaken, N. H., as was Aunt Harriet. James Allen Kerr went west many years ago. He found a job in a bank, married and settled down. Things went pretty nicely for him; in time he was made vice president of the Bluefields National Bank. He had one son, James Allen Kerr, Jr., whom you know as Jim Kerrigan. Out in Bluefields, he was known by his middle name—as Allan Kerr."

That was the reason, Cilly realized, why Amy didn't recognize the name of Jim Kerrigan. Dolan continued:

"For many years the elder Kerr enjoyed a pretty good reputation in Bluefields. Then along came the depression and he was hit hard. Lost his home, I understand, and most of his stock holdings. What bothered him most, it seems, was that the future looked so dark for his son. Apparently he idolized the boy. At any rate, an opportunity came along to pick up $50,000 in negotiable bank securities, and he took them. He was tried and convicted. They never found the securities, but shortly after the old man went to jail, young Kerr—or Kerrigan—disappeared. The police in Utah believe that he has the money, and they're still looking for him."

Cilly shook her head dully.

"The story isn't true," she insisted. "There's a catch somewhere. Granted all you say is true—that this Mr. Kerr is Jim's father—it wouldn't be the Jim Kerrigan I know to run away and leave him. I'd never believe that!"

"He did, nevertheless. Oh, what's the use, Miss Pierce? I admire your loyalty to the fellow, but you've got to face the facts."

PAT O'BRIEN IN NEWSPAPER ROLE

Nobody plays a fast-talking, wise-cracking newspaper man like Pat O'Brien, it has been conceded ever since he did Hildy Johnson in the classic, "Front Page."

But he has a feminine rival for these honors in "Back in Circulation," the Warner brothers' comedy-drama which opens at the West Coast Wednesday. The rival is none other than Joan Blondell, co-starred with him.

Second feature on the program will bring Boris Karloff in "West of Shanghai," thrilling story of war in China, with a fine cast and well-plotted action story. Pete Smith will present "Jungle Juvenile," while Edgar Bergen with Charlie McCarthy for whom he plays "stooge," will feature in a comedy, "Neckin' Party."

"Back in Circulation" was written by the well-known author, Adela Rogers St. Johns, and sees Pat as managing editor of a sensational newspaper which will stop at nothing to increase circulation, and Joan as his star reporter.

The story has to do with the mysterious death of a millionaire, which Pat and Joan solve—as well as rescue from death or life imprisonment, the man's widow, who has refused to save herself from murder conviction. Margaret Lindsay, John Littel, Regis Toomey, Craig Reynolds and George E. Stone make up the exceptional supporting cast.

SOCIETY AND CLUBS WOMEN'S ACTIVITIES

Lively Month Promised For Junior Ebell

October marks the beginning of a variety of activities for Junior Ebell society members, with a general meeting scheduled for Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the clubhouse, and section meetings marking several days on this month's calendar.

Child study section, which takes in both Senior and Junior Ebell members, will meet Wednesday evening, October 13, in the home of Mrs. Clarence Holmes, 2010 Victoria Drive. Mrs. Charles Briscoe will talk on "Why Music in the Home," illustrating with several songs for small children. Hostesses with Mrs. Holmes will be Mesdames John Ebersole, George Peterson and Thoburn White.

Mrs. Gordon Richmond, leader of First Book Review section will receive the group Tuesday, October 15 at 7:30 p. m. in her home, 815 East Palmway street in Orange. Mona Summers Smith will present the program, which will include a review of "Peter Pan," the play the section is considering for a benefit performance sometime this winter.

Second Book Review section also will open its activities October 15 at 7:30 p. m., enjoying the hospitality of the home of Mrs. Walter Bacon, 1006 Lowell street. Mrs. Lee Smith, section leader, Miss Sada Mae Macaulay and Mrs. Robert U. Smith will be hostesses with Mrs. Bacon. Mrs. John Tessaum will review Kenneth Roberts' "Northwest Passage."

Mrs. Quentin Matson, leader of Contract Bridge section, has announced that the opening meeting will be held Wednesday, October 29 at 7:30 o'clock in the clubhouse lounge.

"Bulb Planting for Spring" will be the subject of Russell Adkins' talk at a meeting of Garden section Tuesday, October 26 at 2:30 p. m. in the home of Mrs. Crawford Nalle, 717 Fairview street.

October 27 will bring the first meeting of Riding section, whose members will enjoy a swim and tea at the home of their leader, Mrs. John Scripps on Heliotrope Drive following a ride. The group will meet at Meadow Lark street at 2 p. m.

Announcement of these various section meetings, and of other activities of special interest to Junior Ebell society members, in the October issue of the News letter, just mailed to the membership.

Dinner Hosts Honor Prospective Travelers

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Freeman's plans to leave soon for the east are inspiring a number of farewell hostesses, the latest of which was a charmingly arranged dinner at which Mrs. Fred Schweitzer entertained Thursday night in their home, 2458 Santiago avenue.

Miss Olive Schweitzer, daughter of the home assisted in serving five-course dinner at a table effectively decorated with pink pom-pom dahlias and yellow tapers. Place cards suggested a ship motif which was given additional emphasis with the dessert course. A pretty cake designed with a ship bore the names of the Freemans, together with "Bon voyage."

Adding enjoyment to the after-dinner hours were piano solos by talented Miss Olive Schweitzer, and accordion selections by Mr. Schweitzer. A bon voyage game was played for part of the time.

Present with the hosts and their daughter, were Mr. and Mrs. Freeman, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Heald and Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Matthews.

Daughters Take Part In Various Events

Four members of Sarah A. Rounds tent D. U. V. were in Orange yesterday afternoon for a meeting of Orange tent at which Department President Eugenia Salisbury of San Jose made her official visit. In the group were Mesdames Florence Price, Thelma Williams, Florence Dunn and the local president, Mrs. Beren Baker.

Sarah A. Rounds tent was well represented Thursday at a meeting of D. U. V. Past Presidents and Memorial Home Board at the Memorial Home in West Los Angeles. Mrs. Ralph Barrett of Huntington Park, the former Mrs. Lena Hewitt of this city, was with the local group, which included Mesdames Beren Baker, Luella Hill, Clara McCord, Florence Price, Fannie Nau, Rowena Grout, Nellie Parker and the Misses Adda and Minnie Cowan.

Mrs. Baker and other members of the tent expect to attend meetings of Fullerton and Long Beach Daughters' organizations Monday afternoon and evening when the department president will be honored.

Medical Auxiliary To Launch New Season

It is with much interest that members of Women's auxiliary to Orange County Medical association approach their new year of study and programs, which will open Tuesday with a 1 o'clock Swedish luncheon at A Bit of Scandia on South Spadra street, Fullerton.

This will be a no-host luncheon, for which Santa Ana members of the auxiliary may telephone their reservations to Mrs. K. H. Sutherland, 1799, Mrs. G. W. Olson of Fullerton will conduct her first business meeting as president, and Mrs. Newell Moore will have charge of the program to follow. Guest speakers will be Dr. Milo K. Tedstrom on some subject of special medical importance, and Ben Reed who will discuss pending legislation of interest to the group.

HOME FROM MOUNTAINS

"Although we were in the High Sierras at an elevation of 7000 feet, we slept in the open with the sky as our only roof every night of our stay in the mountains," said Mrs. J. B. Smith today in commenting on her 12 days' vacation. Mr. and Mrs. Smith, 206 Cypress avenue, returned home Thursday evening from Trimmer, Calif., where they made their headquarters. They camped on the North Fork of the River for the greater part of the time. With the Santa Anas were their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Darrel C. Maxson of Berkeley. Mr. Maxson and Mr. Smith packed into the mountains for an overnight stay.

A visit to the power plant at Balch camp, northeast of Fresno, from where electricity is taken to the San Joaquin valley, was enjoyed by the Santa Ana couple. Also they attended Fresno County Fair.

Veteran Rebekah

Taking in one new member and making plans for a luncheon meeting next month, members of Veteran Rebekah met yesterday afternoon in I. O. O. F. hall. Husbands of members and other guests will be welcomed to the luncheon which will take place on the next regular meeting day, Friday, November 5.

During yesterday's business meeting, Mrs. Maud Wallace was elected vice president to succeed Mrs. Mammie Zimmerman, who resigned.

The Mixing Bowl

By ANN MEREDITH

The firm intention to sample everything that comes my way in reducing diets before publication led me to test what seems to me the ideal weekend reducing diet, admirably suited to women who work in offices, but just as good for the housewife, make no mistake I found that a loss of a pound per day is possible for a slim person, possibly more if one is pleasantly plump. Now for the rules of the diet:

At 2-hour intervals from the time you awaken until the dinner hour has passed, take (1) a full glass of fruit juice (2nd) a glass of buttermilk (3rd) a glass of whole milk. Elaborated, this works out this way. Take a glass of fruit juice when you awake, then bathe and dress and have some coffee with saccharin and hot milk for breakfast. Two hours later drink a glass of buttermilk. Two hours after the buttermilk, drink a glass of sweet milk. Repeat this routine until the dinner hour has passed. Take a sizzling hot bath before bedtime, sleep late if you can or will, for a change as it seems, this diet works perfectly when taken with a rest cure.

Don't attempt to squeeze fresh fruit juices for this diet. Use the handy canned orange and grapefruit juices. Three cans of each will last the two days. A bottle of each of the two milks will be sufficient for each day.

EAT AND GROW SLIM MENU

Breakfast

Glass of tomato juice with lemon or
Glass of mixed grapefruit and orange juices (canned)
1 apple, sliced without peeling and fried in fat of 1 slice of bacon

Eat with 2 slices of toasted rye bread, unbuttered
1 cup coffee with hot skimmed milk and saccharin.
Calory total, 372.

Luncheon

Cup of hot broth
*Bowl of mixed vegetable salad, with
*Diet French dressing
3 ry-crisp crackers lth
3 thin small slices of cheese, no butter

Small piece of unfrosted cake
Cup of clear tea.
Calory total, 385.

Dinner

Tomato juice cocktail or
2 tepsy fruit cocktail
2 thin slices boiled corned beef with horseradish or mustard
*Sweet and sour cabbage, 1 cup
1 small baked potato with 1 cube butter
Celery curls and sour pickles
Small cup custard or baked apple
Black coffee

For the family meals, add cereal, buttered toast and eggs for breakfast. Regulation dressing for the luncheon salad, hot rolls and butter and canned fruit with the cake. At dinner, add rolls, a different dessert (maybe) and beverage.

Cooked and raw vegetables mix perfectly in the vegetable salad; use your own judgment in choosing your combination, but the diet dressing is another matter. For that mix:

½ cup mineral oil put in fruit jar with 3 tablespoons spiced vinegar or lemon juice. Add a teaspoon of grated onion, a crushed clove of garlic, teaspoon of prepared mustard, pinch of salt, sugar and paprika, and lots of chopped parsley. Tighten cover and shake well.

Sweet and sour cabbage requires shredded cabbage cooked 10 minutes, drained and dressed with weak vinegar and enough sugar to offset the vinegar. Enrich the soured cabbage with a few spoonfuls of thick sour cream.

Sandwiches, salad and coffee were served by the hostess.

TRAVELERS RETURN

Although Mrs. Z. T. Douglas is still visiting relatives in Minnesota and is not expected home until later in October, her daughter, Miss Effie Douglas, has returned to the family home, 626 North Broadway, from an interesting summer abroad, taken in company with the Misses Hazel Cubbon and Barbara Ware.

Continental countries and the British Isles were included on the itinerary of the travel party. Return to this country was on the S. S. Duches of Athol, from which they disembarked at Montreal, returning to Santa Ana by way of the Canadian Rockies and stopping at Lake Louise.

Relish dishes, serving forks and pottery bowls were included in the prizes rewarding high scorers. Mrs. Fullerton, Mrs. Imogene Maxwell and Mrs. Bertha Berry.

Long Beach were among winners in contract bridge. Chairman of this contest were Mrs. Charles Mitchell and Mrs. Thomas Wilson.

Winners in auction bridge included Mrs. Charles Pritchard and Mrs. Herbert Alleman. Mrs. Douglas Peddy and Mrs. Glenn Lyman were in charge of these games. Mrs. H. T. Trueblood won one of the special prizes.

Mrs. J. P. McWilliams, as Armeses club president was assisted by the general membership, including the card chairman and Mesdames Elmer Smith, Ora Jennings, C. A. Rousseau, Albert Miller, Al Adrain, Charles Ryan, William Curmatt and Earl Lindig.

Home-made cake and coffee were served preceding card play. While tables were being checked, a reading was given by Mrs. Hancock of Long Beach.

CLUB GROUP WELCOMED

Devoting a merry evening to games, members of the C. P. C. club were entertained Thursday night by Mrs. Lena Hanson, 320 East Pomona street.

Mrs. Lurline Clayton not only took first prize in a whoopee contest, but also captured the gallop prize. Consolation went to Mrs. Mary Mercurio.

Mrs. Hanson served an appetizing refreshment course at the

Presbyterians Asked For Rally Dinner Reservations

As plans progressed today for a district rally of Women's Missionary society of Presbyterian churches to be held Wednesday in Orange Presbyterian church, those planning to attend the dinner in connection with the event were asked to make their reservations immediately.

Santa Anans who will take part in this dinner at 6:30 p. m. in the church, are asked to make their reservation not later than Monday noon.

Wednesday's meeting will come as a special celebration of the centennial of foreign mission work in the Presbyterian church. The women's meeting will begin at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. At 5:30 p. m., a talking picture featuring Dr. Robert E. Speer of the board of foreign missions, will be shown.

Dinner, open to women and men of the church as well, will be followed by a general program. Speakers will be the Rev. Enrico Sobrepna, moderator of the General Assembly of the Church of the Philippines; and Dr. Cleland B. McAfee of the Mission Board, who was a recent speaker in this city.

Armeses Club Grets Many Guests At Party

When Armeses club members entertained this week at a benefit card party in M. W. A. hall, they received a number of out of town guests as well as scores of local bridge enthusiasts.

Mexican sunflowers and greenery gave the hall a colorful appearance for the party. Low scorer in each of the 17 tables of cards found that consolation award really lived up to its name, since hand-made pitholders formed the prizes.

Relish dishes, serving forks and pottery bowls were included in the prizes rewarding high scorers. Mrs. Fullerton, Mrs. Imogene Maxwell and Mrs. Bertha Berry.

Long Beach were among winners in contract bridge. Chairman of this contest were Mrs. Charles Mitchell and Mrs. Thomas Wilson.

Winners in auction bridge included Mrs. Charles Pritchard and Mrs. Herbert Alleman. Mrs. Douglas Peddy and Mrs. Glenn Lyman were in charge of these games. Mrs. H. T. Trueblood won one of the special prizes.

You and Your Friends

Mrs. Harry J. Baxter, 929 Spurgeon street, left last night for Blythe, accompanying home her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Paul Baxter, who had been visiting here for the past month. She divided her time between the homes of her mother, Mrs. Nettie DeWetter, 728 Cypress avenue and the Baxters on Spurgeon street. Mrs. Harry Baxter expects to spend several weeks with her son and daughter-in-law in their home in Blythe.

Irma Baxter Owen and her sister, Miss Leone Baxter, 929 Spurgeon street will be in Los Angeles tomorrow for a wedding at which the former will be vocal soloist.

Several men from the operating and commercial departments of the Santa Ana division of Southern Edison company, and Miss Elizabeth Millen, chairman of Edison Women's committee in Orange county were in Santa Monica Thursday for the fall convocation of Pacific Coast Electrical association. Luncheon was served at the Deauville club, with Vice-President A. L. Stone presiding.

Mrs. C. J. Raley has returned to her home, 910 North Flower street, after a week's visit in Los Angeles and with Mr. and Mrs. Dillon Ober, Hollywood, and Mrs. Grace L. Brodie, Pasadena. Mrs. Brodie was a recent guest in Santa Ana, visiting Mrs. Ruby during Dr. Raley's absence on a hunting trip.

Miss Dorothy Beasley, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E. M. Beasley, 1807 Spurgeon street, who returned this week from a several days' visit in Portland, Ore. will resume her teaching duties at Miss Bell's Nursery and Kindergarten School in Los Angeles next Monday. Miss Beasley, a graduate of Oregon State college, enjoyed renewing school acquaintances.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Griffin of San Pedro arrived last night to spend the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Wool, 701 South Birch street. The group will be joined Sunday for dinner by old friends, Mr. and Mrs. William W. Kraemer of Orange.

A pleasant event of this week was an informal celebration of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Mildred Breedlove. She was joined by Mrs. Olive Breedlove and George Price of Modjeska and Charles S. Gheoghan of Santa Ana for a chicken supper at the Trading Post in Modjeska canyon.

Our Children

BY ANGELO PATRI

IN SEASON

There is always, in every phase of life, the just right time. If one does the work that the time admits, even demands, there is every hope of a perfect return. Seed sown in season, plants fed and watered on time, the harvest is more certain if gathered on time.

There is a nice sense of discrimination involved in all this. Just when does the right time come? And how does one know it is the right time? One never knows anything certainly, but experience does tell something and if it is coupled with the wish to learn and to work hard at the task in hand, one can make a working guess which will come close to rightness.

Children grow steadily forward, but they do not maintain an even speed in their growth and they do not grow all at once. They grow fast and then they grow slowly, and at all the rates in between. They grow their bodies in bits here and there, and their growth seems to be most irregular and quite uncertain, but in reality it is according to a perfect plan hidden from us, waiting for our discovery like all other plans of the Creator. One can study and watch and work and hope and be fairly certain of the result provided always one works on time.

Parents and teachers are hurried, busy people occupied with the grave concerns of their duties. The children, growing under their eyes, escape notice until "all of a sudden" something happens that brings them to the center of attention. They have done something unusual, perhaps startling, and their astonished elders call upon high heaven to behold the vagaries of this child. There are no vagaries. Just normal growth that goes on without our sight or understanding. The time for our attention passed without our seeing or knowing the need.

This is why adolescent children give their people so much trouble at times. When, in their early growth, they developed some race-old phase of growth, something that should have been of passing concern only, nobody took NOTICE, the phase lingered, became a habit marked enough to annoy somebody or frighten somebody. Then what is to be done? The answer has passed for changing this growth easily. Now it means a pruning and a regrowth, a trying experience for all concerned.

When a little child shows temper, find the cause and make losing the temper unnecessary. When he pliers, find the cause and remove it, then and there not when he reaches the age of marriage. When a child betrays selfishness begin training him that day, not after years of self-indulgence. When a child is bad-mannered, begin training him the day he first checks his mother, or leaves his things for her to pick up, or forgets to do the chore assigned him, not when he is an adolescent rebelling against all restriction. Train children in season. Don't expect the three-year-old to assume full responsibility for himself, but don't wait until he is twenty before letting him feel the responsibility he bears toward his family. Teach children what they ought to learn, at the right time. They will learn easily then what they must acquire painfully later on.

Stamp News

By C. W. Clarke

PHILATELIC WINDOW

The question has been brought to the writer's attention that Santa Ana should have a special Philatelic Window like Los Angeles. Several questions arise in regard to this. Is there enough patrons for such a window in Orange county? How much of this trade goes to other post offices? Are the stamp collectors getting a fair deal the way things are going now under the present arrangements? Would once or twice a week, say from 1 p. m. to 4 p. m. be enough time for the opening of such a window? Would such a window be a saving to the patrons?

Let's take the first question. In and around Santa Ana there is at least 3500 people young and old gathering stamps for their collections. This large group should have some consideration when it comes to getting stamps for their collections by paying out their money for stamps that will in most cases never be used. One must know when starting a collection that well centered stamps are the kind to buy when they cost the same as poorly centered. It is shocking to see some of the poorly centered stamps different ones are saving. If they are saving these stamps for future sales use they had better begin right now and get new and better centered stock. The writer has seen lately some 10 to 12 year old stamps off center that are not worth over face while fine centered ones brought 2 1-2 times face in a sale. The writer believes there is a fine and large group of collectors who would more than make the Philatelic Window pay as they could depend on it and would not go elsewhere to get single stamps and one could depend on getting fine centered material and would come back time and again for more.

In regard to going to other post offices many stamp collectors gather their stamps from the many small post offices around Orange county. The service to these collectors is excellent and they give good stamps.

The junior club of Santa Ana are in favor of the window besides the Orange County club.

Our genial Postmaster Frank Harwood is in favor of a window but being low in clerk help it is a problem to arrange for such a window. The extra clerk hire when a shortage exists and the very much extra work in extra bookkeeping for the assistant postmaster make the having of the window a question at the present time. It is hoped though that all can be arranged in the near future as the stamp collectors of Orange county would appreciate such a help.

Collecting Along Definite Lines

The New York Times lately honored philately or themselves by a short editorial on collecting in which it admitted that in many respects stamp hunting was the best and most elastic means of gratifying an instinct latent in the entire human race, the more pronounced the higher we go in civilization and culture. The great beauty in stamp collecting is exemplified by the fact that none are too poor or too ignorant to get pleasure out of the pursuit, while it affords relaxation and entertainment to many of the greatest minds in all the principal centers of culture. An instructive and beautiful collection of stamps can be formed at a cost of one cent per week while the wealthy have collection on which they have expended many hundreds of thousands and they can still find material with which to keep up their interest in the pursuit. The great trouble with American collectors is that they cannot let the commercial side drop out and at the sight of any loss many get disgusted. The profit in philately is for those who conscientiously form a collection along definite lines and strive to get every stamp their scheme calls for. Eventually such an album must become valuable while those who are simply looking for stamps that they expect to advance in price will find both losses and gains, only those gifted with second sight will become great winners; such ones can make more money in many other lines of business and can easily afford to look on philately as a pleasure pure and simple. The most pronounced speculator certainly has a love for the objects of his quest or he would turn his mind to objects which would be more congenial to him and leave stamps to their friends and lovers. The real collector never tires and is as interested at eighty as when he took up the pursuit at eight, which is about the present limit of the oldest collector.

Fair Notes

In our visit to the Los Angeles County Fair at Pomona many parts of the stamp collectors exhibit, located on the second floor of the grand stand above the main entrance door, was very interesting. It is to bad some of the larger collectors cannot show second order frames of stamps. It cost nothing and the stamps are well protected. Different clubs can put on better exhibits but the fair is visited by thousands where it would help more people.

In regard to town cancellations, here are some names in one girls exhibit (boys) Austin, Boyd, Leonard, Thomas, Henry, Albert, George, Le Roy and Bernard; (girls) Henrietta, Lorraine, Irma, Hazel, Sylvia, Flora, Theresa, Myrtle, Roberta and Victoria.

Another town cancellation exhibit has Jupiter, Fla., Neptune, Texas; Venus, Pa.; Sun, La.; Moon, Va.; Mercury, Texas; Mars, Pa. Get this cancellation, Crisp (Texas), Greenback (Tenn.), Billa (Penn.) We would all like to have these in our collection.

Young and Old

In our second visit to the stamp exhibit we found what we think is the oldest and youngest collector. One lady and gentleman in Los Angeles have a youngster 19 months old who has an interest in stamps, at least we know he worked on one of their books. The oldest collector is a gentleman 93 years old who has collected 70 years.

Coronation Stamps Obsolete
Several of the Coronation sets are now obsolete. The South African and South West African stamps are completely sold out while the remaining three values of the Southern Rhodesian series will be withdrawn from sale on

Dealer Absconds
With "Coronation" Money
According to the Philatelist and its content, edited and published by Robson Lowe, a stamp dealer has disappeared with a considerable amount of money one report says 2,000 pounds. Collectors who applied for Coronation sets at a special prepaid order price have yet to receive their stamps.

New Overprints
on N. Z. Coronations
In the last philatelic bulletin from the G. F. O. at Wellington, New Zealand, it is announced that the original forms used for overprinting the New Zealand Coronation stamps for use in Niue and the Cook Island, showed definite signs of wear and that new forms are now in use for both issues. It is possible therefore, that two different types of overprint exist.

Forged French Stamps
Stamp collectors have recently discovered that the fifty centimes "Peace" stamp has been extensively forged. Post office officials say the New York Sun, were horrified to discover that not only were many reputable mercantile houses induced to purchase at a heavy discount quantities of forged stamps, but that government tobacco shops, which are required by law to retail postage stamps, were among the distributors of the forgeries. One tobacco shop was found in possession of a stock of 140,000. Several arrests have been made and it is possible that in future surface-printing may be abandoned and that French stamps may be printed by the engraved process by the Institut de Gravure.

Constitution
The United States issued a special commemorative to recall the Signing of the United States Constitution on Sept. 17. We think this is one of the loveliest of all recent U. S. postage stamps.

Canal Zone
On September 27 a new stamp went on sale in the Canal Zone to honor the memory of General William L. Sibert who was in charge of construction of the Gatun Locks and Dam 24 years ago. The stamp is of 14c denomination and a special cachet is being applied to all covers posted on the day of issue—this cachet carries historical data.

Territorials
The first of the new U. S. Territorial stamps will go on sale for the first time on October 18 at Honolulu and the next day at Washington. This will be the stamp for Hawaii and it will be followed shortly by the stamps for Alaska, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

Catalog
The new 1937 Standard Postage Stamp Catalog went on sale Sept. 20. The book this year, because of the many changes in its make-up and the terrific increased cost of production, is 50 cents higher than in any previous year.

New South Wales
The centenary of the state of New South Wales will be commemorated by the Australian Commonwealth with a special issue of three stamps to go on first day sale on October 1.

Constitution Sales
Philadelphia witnessed one of the largest first day sales of a new commemorative stamps that has happened in some time. On September 17 there were $80,100 of the new three-cent stamps sold and the number of cover canceled at the Philatelic window totaled 281,478. The number of covers recorded is far below the actual number mailed for no record was kept of envelopes mailed at the regular mail windows or posted in boxes throughout the city. It has been estimated by many that the number mailed would run very close to 500,000 covers.

TALBERT CLASS OPENED
TALBERT, Oct. 2.—The naturalization class of the Huntington Beach High school district, which is held each year at Fountain Valley school opened this week for the term. Classes will be held each Monday evening under the leadership of Mrs. Jessie Hayden, Americanization and naturalization teacher for the district.

Markets At A Glance

(By United Press)

Stocks irregular in dull trading. Bonds higher and quiet. U. S. government issues irregular. Foreign exchange generally firm. French francs recovered slightly from break of more than 16 points to new 11-year low. Cotton weak at new 4-year lows. Wheat up 1/4 to 1/2 cent, corn unchanged to 1/2 cent. Rubber easy.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—(UP)—Quiet strength in railroad shares featured a dull, narrow moving stock market today. Carrier issues gained traction to a point on short covering induced by belief that were negotiations were making favorable progress. Great Northern rose a point and Southern Pacific, New York Central, Pennsylvania and Union Pacific.

Steel shares eased 1/2. Steel lost more than a point and then came back slightly. Declines of fractions point were noted in Wheeling, Republic and Bethlehem. News from the steel industry continued to point to curtailment. Steel industry continued to point to curtailment.

Chrysler and General Motors were firm early, but dipped later. Standard Oil of New Jersey was a strong spot, gaining more than a point. Several other oils.

Farm shares were bid up 2 or 3 points and small order shares improved fractionally. Public utilities and chemicals several special issues, including Coca Cola, Commercial Credit and National lost more than a point.

Bonds advanced moderately in light trading. Government bonds were steady. Cotton futures eased a few points.

A feature was a sharp break in the French franc which touched 227 1/2 cents, off 15 1/2 points. That was the lowest the franc has sold since November 1, 1936, when it was rallying from the all time low of 136 cents made on July 20, 1926.

THE SAME BLACK

Hugo Black's radio speech last night shows that his spirit has not changed. As pointed out editorially in the Los Angeles Times, he contradicts himself. The editorial is reproduced in today's Register under "The Nation's Press."

Black makes the firm declaration that the incident is now closed so that he cannot be expected to answer challenges as to the truthfulness of his statements.

This is the same spirit that the Ku Klux Klaners always had; they want to have the last word and be protected under cover. Black still has the same spirit as the Klan and as a Czar—He can do no wrong; he is above being questioned. He is perfectly willing to take the fruits of a very important post in the United States as a result of the works of the Klan. He certainly must know that he never would have been elected senator, as opposed to Underwood, had not it been for the oath of office to the Klan and the backing of the Klan. To accept the fruits of the Klan and then repudiate them is the kind of a man Senator Black is.

Inasmuch as we learn largely from observation, for the people of the United States to permit a man of Black's type to be rewarded for the chicanery back of the Klan is to encourage chicanery, dishonesty, trickery and deceit in others. The people of the United States have become so used to crime and corruption, however, that many of them fail to see the far-reaching consequences of rewarding dishonesty.

Black by nature is a meddler. He wants to run the lives of other people. He wanted to do it in a religious way and in a racial way and now his determination as represented in his proposed hour legislation that people dare not work longer than he thinks they should, shows that it is the same Black now as it was when he joined the Klan and accepted the life membership in 1926.

NOURISHMENT FOR THE BRAIN

If a man, or woman, young or old, really is alive, he constantly is a victim of a hunger for knowledge, and a determined seeker of the truth in all things.

And, despite an apparent belief or impression on the part of the majority of Americans who have the impression the truth cannot be found, there is every facility in Santa Ana and Orange county for ferreting out facts, figures, and application of theories that will bare the truth.

The Santa Ana public library ceaselessly makes a conscientious effort to supply all demands in this respect. Do our citizens take full advantage of this great public service? Or do they listlessly go through life taking the other fellow's word for this and that, without even attempting to analyze and probe for the truth?

The Register thinks those are two pertinent questions. They are questions that will have a bearing on the future development of Santa Ana and every community in Orange county. If you do not quite understand a statement made either in your newspaper, or in the piece of non-fiction you may choose to read, why dismiss it with the word, "it's all bunk," or, "the author of this must be affected?"

Instead, why not INVESTIGATE? Seek the truth. Every tome in the library cannot be faultless, but, with the mind with which God endowed every normal human being, there is no excuse for anyone who does not make a serious effort to be intellectually honest. And the latter means that before you can take a stand on any issue, you must be able to explain it fully, and to set forth a logical and courageous reason for taking that stand.

We all know the body suffers from hunger. But shouldn't it occur to all of us more often that the brain and the Being suffers more from lack of nourishment?

WHAT IS THE SITUATION?

There can be no doubt about the intention of the Orange County Humane society. It's membership doubtless is alert and on the guard at all times to prevent cruelty to all lovable pets and all dumb animals. As a matter of fact, the group has proved it will demand kind and merciful treatment of all animals, by all persons.

Recently, a group of members investigated dog pounds at Anaheim and Newport Beach. There, according to the members, they found conditions which, they said, would not be tolerated "by persons capable of the emotion of mercy and kindness."

As a newspaper that attempts to meet the full responsibility placed before it, The Register has at heart the interests of dumb animals as well as human beings. It is interested in the reports from members of the humane society concerning the dog pound situations at Anaheim and Newport Beach. It is more interested, however, in throwing light on the entire truth of the matter. If the facts, as stated in a letter from the president of the society to the Anaheim city council, are true, then the society should see that something is done about it.

We would suggest that a fair-minded but militant committee be appointed to approach authorities in charge of these pounds to make formal request that the situations be improved. We feel assured that proper authorities, once apprised of the matter, would take immediate action to eradicate an eyesore of the community in which they doubtless take justifiable pride.

Sharing the Comforts Of Life

THE NEW EDUCATION

That the readers may get some idea of what our new educators, including the junior college of Santa Ana, are teaching, here are some statements that most people, whose beliefs are not governed by wishes, believe to be true.

1. That all wages, in order to be permanent, must come from production.
2. That the aggregate wages cannot be higher permanently than the aggregate production.
3. That if any wages are higher than the workers produce, other wages, of necessity, must be lower by equal amount.
4. That sharing work when jobs are scarce does not increase the total number of weeks or months of employment or production and, consequently, results in a lower standard of living instead of a higher standard of living, than would result if wages were adjusted so that there would be employment for all.

Now our modern thinkers, including the head of the department of social science at Santa Ana junior college, contends that these theories have little foundation in fact.

So, now, our children may know the new theories, that one group of workers can take any fraction of the total production and the rest of the workers will not suffer by it.

There is little wonder that we have strikes when we are teaching our children that it is foolish to believe that wages come from production and that any group can take any fraction of the total production he sees fit and it doesn't affect the rest of the workers.

That is the kind of economics and ethics our modern educators, as represented by the junior college at Santa Ana, are teaching. It is little wonder that we have millions of people unemployed and the great majority of people are obliged to work for a small fraction of what they are worth when this is what our colleges are publicly teaching our children.

EQUAL WAGES FOR ALL, BUT—

The aim of every true democracy should be to have equal wages for all. By this, we do not mean equal hourly or equal yearly wages but we mean equal wages per unit of service rendered. Under a true democracy there is no reason why any man should be paid more per unit of service than another man. When this is permitted, we are getting away from true democracy, to autocracy, to despotism.

Equal wages for all will most likely be secured if there are no artificial restrictions between different occupations and different jobs. If they are open to any and all comers and any individual thinks that another man is getting better pay per unit of production or for a given expenditure of energy, then under a free competitive system, this individual can adjust what he believes to be an injustice by attempting to do the job that he thinks is being paid more per unit of service than he himself is getting for his present job.

This feature of true democracy has been largely abandoned. It is probably one of the primary causes of the United States having more people out of work for a longer period than any time in its history.

We repeat that, under a true democracy, all wages from a unit standpoint should be as nearly equal as possible. It matters not whether one man is getting many times more per hour or per year than another, just so long as his unit pay is the same and that any man who thinks another is getting more than he produces has a right to under-bid him to correct the injustice.

PROFESSOR OF ECONOMICS THE CAUSE

Sir Knight Norman Angell in his book, "The Public Mind," quotes Professor Schiller on the question of who brought about the present economic chaos. He says:

"Logic has been just examinable nonsense for over two thousand years. The present economic chaos in the world has been indirectly brought about by the policy adopted by the professors of economics forty or fifty years ago, to suit their own convenience. For they then decided that they must escape from the unweelcome attentions of the public by becoming more 'scientific'; i.e. they ceased to express themselves in plain language and took to mathematical formulae and curves instead, with the result that the world promptly relapsed into its primitive depths of economic ignorance."

We certainly have plenty of these professors in the United States. Many of them will not discuss their theories in public. They Ku-Klux-Klan-like claim to be absolute authority and have no explanation whatsoever for millions of people being out of work, other than that the dumb business men did not pay wages enough so that the workers could buy back what these economists claim they produced. They forget that there were workers in the past who abstained and saved and furnished the tools.

But, as Professor Schiller says, certainly the large part of our present condition is due to the mental laziness of our college professors.

The Nation's Press

BLACK JUGGLES THE FACTS

When Mr. Justice Black spoke last night over nation-wide radio hook-ups to deny any connection with the Ku Klux Klan except for a brief period before he was elected Senator, he uttered words in conflict with established fact.

And in a speech of less than 1000 words he managed to contradict himself damningly.

His prefatory statement concerning the importance of religious freedom and the inviolability of the guarantees in the Bill of Rights was well enough, and could be considered forthright and proper if his sincerity was not open to question. But that conflict and that contradiction certainly raises doubts of where and when Hugo L. Black was telling the truth. Was he telling the truth in 1926 when he appeared at a Klan meeting, accepted a gold card of life membership, and made a speech extolling the Klan and pledging eternal allegiance to its principles, or is he telling the truth now?

"I did join the Klan," says Black. "I later resigned. . . . I never have considered and I do not now consider the unsolicited card given to me shortly after my nomination to the Senate as a membership of any kind in the Ku Klux Klan. I never used it. I did not even keep it.

"Before becoming a Senator I dropped the Klan. I have had nothing to do with it since that time. I abandoned it. I completely discontinued any association with the organization."

If this is not self-contradictory, when dates are considered, it would take a Philadelphia lawyer to draw the distinction. "Before I became a Senator," may reasonably refer to his secret letter or resignation, dated July 9, 1926. But he was for practical purposes a Senator when, on September 2, 1926, he received the card he refers to. On that occasion he said:

"I realize that I was elected by men who believe in the principles I have sought to advocate and which are the principles of this organization."

If that is "abandoning" the Klan, then words have no meaning. True, Black had not yet been technically elected, and there would still be some months during which this abandonment could take place, but for one damning remark.

Black says all this took place "about fifteen years ago."

And September, 1926, is only eleven years ago.

If Black is not morally disqualified by his past membership in the Klan, and by his deceit of the Senate, he appears to be by his present mendacity.—Los Angeles Times.

General Hugh S. Johnson

NEW YORK CITY—Mr. Roosevelt didn't need to go out to Bonnevill to find out that the chapter of blunders on the Supreme Court wasn't popular. He is as sensitive as an amateur to the least little current of public opinion. For the same reason, he knew that despite that chapter, he has an unshakable hold on the areas he is visiting. That hold is money—jack-dough. . . . The strongest single hold in the human bag of tricks.

The most significant news in the wake of the presidential train at every stop was that he was everywhere advised, "We don't like what happened in the Supreme Court fight but we won't go back on you as long as we get our federal dough." That carries a strong negative hint in these traditional Republican states—"we wouldn't turn you out on the court issue but we won't that dough—or else."

Bolled down, the President's replies amount to this: Fear not, impudent dough-seekers. My policies will not change. Some friends advise me to coast but I am going to continue to pedal. And don't let anybody tell you this will bust the United States. The budget will be balanced in 1938 but you will get your dough.

In the grain and row-crop country the dough will come from Mr. Wallace's new A.A. At the great power sites on the Pacific slope, the dough is to come from power at low prices subsidized by federal dough. At Bonnevill there was a promise to rebuild that whole region with this federal dough spent on new Columbia River dams.

You can't beat that. If the country can rebuild on an improved model with federal dough, the man who could oppose that is a heartless fiend and the man who discovered it is the second

WASHINGTON, D. C.—In matters of political opinion, it is as unfair to quote a Republican peep-sheet like "The New York Herald-Tribune" as it would be to canvass Yale on its opinion of Harvard. The "Trib" is the house-organ of the bb. shots of American business in the metropolitan area. Its political convictions are such that it considers Miss Dorothy Thompson as a rather dangerous radical and Mr. Walter Lippmann as an advanced liberal.

On social and economic questions however, it reflects the interests of the coupon-clipping class and there it may fairly be assumed to speak for the boys in the club-windows and the ladies in the penthouses of Manhattan. In a recent editorial on what it called the "labor crisis," the Herald-Tribune made this revealing statement: "The relief policy and the social security act have undermined the Boss' authority by robbing unemployment of much of its terror."

Here speaks the ultimate bondholder. This is the real McCoy. Behold Wall Street's real complaint against the New Deal—slipping out like a tom-cat on a spring night. It is the most complete indictment ever leveled against American industrial management. "The boss' authority," according to the interpreter of the mind of the moneyed east, is based on his power to condemn the individual workman to starvation. "The relief policy," which sees to it that the unemployed do not starve, and "the social security act," which protects people against destitution, are regarded as "undermining" the authority of the employer.

This goes beyond political sentiment. It raises the old issue of slavery vs. freedom. "The American way," as preached by the ruler of our individualists, at least offered an ideal of rational organization of work, of intellect applied to the whole industrial process. Under this theory, a man got what he produced and the old or inefficient were bounced. This was rigorous but understandable. Now it appears that fear of starvation is the real driving force, not efficiency.

This concept cuts very deeply. Northern newspapers have recently published photographs and accounts of Georgia cotton-pickers (colored) being kept under armed guard by farmers and deputies sumers in sales taxes of one hidden kind or another, or in increased prices or decreased wages and employment. This federal dough, that is going to make everybody happy, is first going to be taken away from everybody on something like an even basis of contribution, and then given back to whoever, on whatever basis, a beneficent government may decree.

"Taxes" once said Mr. Roosevelt, "are paid in the sweat of every man who labors"—but hand-outs, as seems now quite clear, are to be distributed as a highly centralized and increasingly powerful federal administration finds it necessary to deal with blunders you make, we will keep you as long as we get our federal dough."

The picture that is painted is of something new being given free, greatest benefactor of the human race.

You can't oppose it, but you can question it. The proposition is simply this, that we can subsidize all depressed classes with federal dough and still balance the budget and not bankrupt the government.

If the past is any sample, it can't be done. We've spent the federal dough, but we haven't balanced the budget notwithstanding three promises all quite as emphatic as this. The only way to continue the subsidies and still balance the budget is to collect about one-third more in taxes.

Who will pay that? As is becoming increasingly more clear, there are only about a billion and a half dollars out of about twelve and a half billions of taxes collected in this country that are not passed on directly to con-

(white), to prevent labor supply from moving to a neighboring area where wages were higher. This is shocking but had at least the merit of assuming that the individual cotton-picker had an economic value. In the northern industrial areas of Mr. Tom Girdler, it seems to work in reverse. Where the Southern plantation owner will resort to virtual peonage in order to harvest his crop, the Northern factory-manager laments that he is unable to starve his help into a condition of suitable docility. I think there is more human dignity in the spectacle of a Negro field-hand picking cotton under a shotgun least he sell his valuable labor elsewhere than in the complaint of those who write that Northern factories can no longer use starvation as an argument in driving a hard bargain with industrial labor.

As a matter of fact, it is about time that sentimental Northerners realized that their criticism of Southern "mediocrity" is rank hypocrisy. Both sections have been guilty of indefensible outrages against labor. In the South, where the "factory" is spread thin over a countryside of plantations, the system cannot be concealed. In the North, where many a fine lady and gentleman of leisure can live in luxury on stocks and bonds invested in remote factories, the murders can be committed off-stage—and no one much the wiser.

I have never met a decent Southerner who condones the treatment accorded to poor white and colored labor in the South. But as a Northerner, I contend that it becomes us to raise holier-than-thou eyebrows at the Ku Klux Klanies, the night-riders and lynchers, so long as Northern industrialists can find eminent newspapers and kept columnists to condone the deliberate massacre of strikers by the police, deputies, vigilantes and hired thugs of some tough-minded corporations.

How can a man condemn lynching, and yet find words to excuse the Memorial Day Massacre in Chicago? How can a man grow indignant at the fate of the South-ern share-croppers and still take for granted the industrial spies and strike-breakers who have converted labor's uncouth demand for better working conditions into a bloody river of terror in the Mid-Western steel-belt?

The Family Doctor

By Dr. Morris Fishbein

Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, Health Magazine

This is the 13th in a series of articles in which Dr. Morris Fishbein discusses cancer, its causes and methods for prevention and treatment.

Any woman who has been troubled with cancer or tumor of the breast should know that modern medicine, given a chance, provides ways of extending life.

The average length of life after discovery of cancer of the breast is 38 months, but scientific medicine has advanced so far that any woman who is treated early with this condition has a good chance of living for 10 years or more.

In 1878, a famous German surgeon found that 23 per cent of the women on whom he operated with cancer of the breast died and that less than 5 per cent lived for more than three years after the operation. Today as many as 70 per cent of women in whom the diagnosis is made early will be found alive and well 10 years after treatment is begun.

Probably the best figures are those developed by the Medical Research Council of Great Britain.

It was found that a woman with cancer of the breast who is not treated at all may expect to live 17.2 per cent of the normal duration of her life.

A woman operated on under ordinary conditions may expect to live 30.4 per cent of her normal duration.

However, a person operated on under the most favorable conditions, when the tumor is seen early, may expect to live 65.5 per cent of the normal duration. In one hospital, 90.1 per cent of women operated on while the growth was still confined to the breast were alive 10 years after operation. But 81.3 per cent of those operated on after the glands under the arm were involved by the cancer were dead within 10 years.

A woman in England 55 years old normally expects to live 18.87 years longer. If she develops a cancer of the breast and is not treated promptly, she may reasonably expect to live 2.25 years. If, however, the cancer is diagnosed early and she is given adequate treatment, she may expect to live 12.93 years.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

World Copyright 1937 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2—In war time, the official propaganda mills grind out their tales so fast and furiously it is almost impossible for anyone to know what to believe. For example:

The Japanese were right about their bombing of Nanking. What they said in their come-back at State Secretary Hull is substantially true. Nanking is not only the headquarters of the Chinese general Chiang Kai Shek but the garrison city for his best troops. He has arsenals and supplies there. It was good military strategy for the Japanese to bomb these things thoroughly.

But the important fact which the Japanese failed to mention in their news is that the also bombed the civilian population indiscriminately. They seemed to justify world opinion that their race does not produce good aviators, and that, as a race they have poor eyesight.

That was a very bad strategical mistake from their own selfish military standpoint. They should have learned from Spain that the bombing of cities produces an adverse effect. Instead of demoralizing the people, it strengthens their will to fight. Also it draws down the disapproval of the world upon the bombers.

Every other nation on its military toes has wiped civilian bombing off its slate of things which are advisable in war.

Washington is being stuffed with pro-Chinese sympathies, inside and outside, official and private. Genuine American feeling for the underdog and the oppressed has made everyone more ready to believe the Chinese version of each and every incident.

It is the popular opinion here as elsewhere, for instance, that the Japanese started the war at Shanghai. Most people frankly suspect the Japs killed their own two officers to provide an incident necessary to justify an attack. (They have done such things before.)

This interpretation has two loopholes, large enough to sink a ship. First Japan and her troops concentrated far away to the north where the Japanese clearly intended to take another swift bite out of China, hoping to get away with it before the world became aroused.

were wholly inadequate to meet the situation. Two weeks was required to get her troops on the ground.

But the Chinese had troops there. The Chinese generalissimo was there, and not in the north where the fighting was expected. Even today he has his best troops there, 250,000 of them; while the Japanese have been able to put only 120,000 before him so far.

No one here professes to know what actually happened. But when the history of the affair is written it may show Chiang as the head general China has had in many a year.

Mr. Roosevelt's Bonnevill vision of a new and different United States was inspired by a report obscurely made recently by his national resources committee. It contained somewhat sensational ideas about the future, which were only partly presented by the president. (The report was made under direction of Interior Secretary Ickes, is entitled "Our Cities and"—mainly written by able Prof. C. A. Dykstra, University of Wisconsin.)

The report predicts city population will become static now for a time, and then will decrease. This will be caused by a spread of electricity production (as the president said), a decline in the birth rate, the growth of the auto and radio.

In other words this country is in a third stage of its development, which will make it an truly different nation. First it grew up in cities along the coast; then it grew up along the railroads; now it is not going to grow any more, but will spread. It does not mention any year when all the ramifications of this trend will be realized, but merely vaguely says a trend.

One point it makes is certainly good now, namely: Smart business planning and thinking from now on must take into consideration the effect of possible decentralization.

The special congressional election in the Lynn Massachusetts district is being hailed as a New Deal victory. All that happened was, the Democratic candidate won by the same margin ratio as last November in a very strong labor district.

If it means anything, it means that the political organization of labor by John Lewis, since last November, has not added any votes to Mr. Roosevelt or the Democrats, even in such a strong labor district.

It seems to establish, likewise, the fact that Mr. Lewis' voters are, and were, Mr. Roosevelt's voters.

It also seems to say that all the money given to the Roosevelt campaign fund by Mr. Lewis was not Mr. Lewis' money but money he collected from Roosevelt voters.
